Other Arab nations support fight against Israel

Iraq enters Mideast war

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Iraqi military command announced today that its air and ground forces had joined the war against Israel and "were taking an active part" in the fighting on both fronts.

The Beirut newspaper An Nahar said 18,000 Iraqi troops with 100 tanks had arrived in Syria.

Five other Arab countries are reported to have sent token forces to the war.

In Washington, the U.S. Defense Department said today that the Soviet Union has begun using its biggest and best transport planes to deliver "very large tonnages" of military supplies to airports in Egypt and Syria.

Israel claimed its warplanes blasted Damascus airport and other strategic targets in the Syrian and Egyptian heartlands today. Iraq announced its air and ground forces have joined the war and Jordan called up its reserves in what could herald another escalation of the five-day-old struggle.

Unconfirmed press reports said a Moroccan brigade sent to Syria five months ago was taking part in the attack on Kunaitra, in the Golan Heights.

A small contingent of troops from Kuwait based on the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal since 1967 is taking part in the Sinai assault, the Kuwait government acknowledged.

Tunisia reportedly has sent 900 soldiers to Egypt. Algeria said it had sent some jet fighters that are in action on the Suez front, and reinforcements are on the way. And Sudan has said it was sending troops to help the Egyptians but didn't say how many.

An Nahar said it learned that Moscow had instructed its ambassadors in the Arab capitals to relay a message from Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev telling the Arab governments "do not leave Egypt and Syria alone in the battle with Israel. Help them with all the means you have. We are giving them all types of assistance."

The paper said diplomatic sources told it the Soviet government was supplying arms and ammunition "to ensure the entire war needs" of the Arab side. The paper also said Soviet experts were participating with Egyptian and Syrian forces "in defending the two countries."

Israeli warplanes attacked Egyptian air bases 27 miles north of Cairo today and hit at Egyptian and Syrian forces on the two battlefronts in the fourth Arab-Israeli war, the Israeli command reported. But there was no report of a resumption of the ground fighting as the war went into its fifth day.

The Israelis said their pilots reported "accurate hits" in raids on air bases at Khusna and Abu Hammad, west of Ismailia in the Nile Delta, and on a radar station on the Mediterranean coast 60 miles east of Alexandria.

Israeli spokesman said Israeli planes also flew missions in support of the ground forces facing the Syrians on the Golan Heights and the Egyptians on the east bank of the Suez Canal.

Syria claimed its air force brought down one Israeli Mirage jet in a dogfight over the Heights, and its antiaircraft gunners blew up an Israeli Skyhawk.

Storms lash Midsection; snow in West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A series of thunderstorms stretched over the nation's midsection with winter-like conditions to the west and summer to the east.

The thunderstorms from Kansas to Minnesota churned up high winds, hail, heavy rains and tornadoes. Temperatures were in the 60s and 70s eastward.

Rainfall reached almost three inches at Sioux Falls, S.D., before dawn, bringing the total to almost five inches, including Tuesday's downpour. Hailstones larger than grapes fell on Sioux Falls on Tuesday.

Snow and temperatures dipping into the 20s hit the central Rockies behind the storm front. Almost four inches of snow whitened Wyoming. Northern Colorado expected heavy snow today, and Denver had a light snowfall.

A tornado was sighted near Red Cloud, Neb., and Blooming Prairie, Minn., Tuesday. No injuries were reported. High winds at St. Cloud in central Minnesota caused some property damage.

Fog crept over Michigan, parts of the Ohio Valley and the Appalachians Tuesday and today. Some traffic accidents occurred in the fog, including one in Ohio involving eight cars. Some schools closed in Ohio Tuesday because of dangerous highway conditions due to fog.

Lightning struck at West Palm Beach, Fla., and Welcome, Minn., Tuesday. At West Palm Beach, lightning injured four boys, two seriously, and at Welcome, one man was knocked unconscious but was recovering.

Elsewhere, skies were generally cloudy to fair with a few thunderstorms scattered along the western Gulf Coast and in Florida.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 23 at Kalispell, Mont., to 81 at Corpus Christi, Tex.

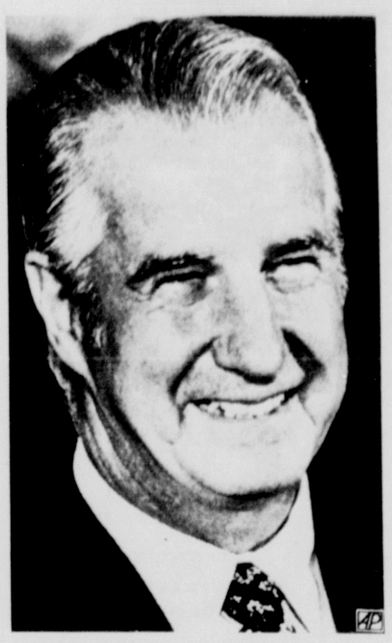
Agnew quits



SPIRO AGNEW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spirto T. Agnew resigned today, a weeping staff secretary announced. Agnew then pleaded guilty in federal court in Baltimore to one count of income tax evasion.

The word came from a secretary who said Agnew's staff had been informed of the decision at a midday meeting.

The vice president himself was in Baltimore at the federal courthouse, the purpose of his visit there unannounced.

Agnew has been under federal investigation in connection with alleged kickbacks in Maryland, where he served as governor before becoming vice president.

Mrs. Lisa Brown, the Agnew secretary, told The Associated Press of the resignation. She said she was speaking on behalf of J. Marsh Thomson, press secretary to Agnew.

She was in tears.

PEA SOUP IN WASHINGTON C.H.—You'd think it was London, but it wasn't. This picture, snapped at 9 a.m., shows the Courthouse tower shrouded in the second consecutive dense morning fog of the week. Many commuters, finding driving conditions rough, particularly on rural highways, reported for work a bit late.

Thick blanket of fog closes rural schools

A thick blanket of fog which has covered Fayette County for the past two days forced cancellation of classes in all of the elementary schools in the Miami Trace School District Wednesday.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster said the only schools open are Miami Trace High School and Eber Junior High School. He said the buses ran only the high school routes and that junior high students at Eber are also picked up on the high school route.

Preliminary plans called for a delay of 1½ hours in the elementary schools, but the dense fog did not lift and a decision was made to cancel classes in the elementary schools.

THE HEAVY FOG created many traffic problems and accidents investigated by the Fayette County Sheriff's and Police Departments.

A stop sign hidden by fog led to an accident at 8 a.m. in the Mt. Olive and Palmer Road area.

Larry D. Sholler, 16, of 500 Brentwood Dr., was traveling north on Mt. Olive Road when a stop sign loomed unexpectedly in front of him. Sholler hit the brakes and skidded 80 feet, hitting a farmer's fence and coming to rest in a ditch.

Sholler's passenger, Jay A. Crummy, 15, of 159 Holly Dr., received a minor injury.

Sholler's car was moderately damaged.

At 6:15 a.m. Wednesday, a car hit a guardrail at the junction of Ohio 753 and U.S. 35, then traveled 141 feet until it came to rest in a ditch.

The driver, James W. Fultz Jr., 27, of Greenfield, was uninjured, but moderate damage was done to his car and light damage to the guardrail.

"Assured clear distance" was applied in a different sort of accident, Tuesday at 10:34 p.m. in the Landmark Parking lot.

Kathryn E. Joseph, 24, of 234 North Bend, collided with a parked car owned by Ronald W. Hall, of 26 Tower Mobile Park, while backing out of her parking space.

Moderate damage was done to the Hall Auto.

A vehicle "cut off" a motorcycle driven by Charles E. Bryan, 19, of 632 East Market St., Tuesday at 1:40 p.m. as he was preparing to turn left onto Columbus Avenue off of Court Street.

Hall avoided the collision by turning right onto Washington Avenue but went off the pavement and lightly damaged his cycle.

Judge admits making error in IBM case

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A federal judge has admitted he made "substantial error" in assessing damages of $352.5 million in an antitrust suit against International Business Machines Corporation by the Telex Corporation.

U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen made the admission Tuesday in granting an IBM motion seeking amendment of the judgment or a new trial on the issue of damages.

He set Oct. 16 as the date for a hearing to determine which alternative will be taken.

"I have concluded that my computation of antitrust damages against IBM involved substantial error," the judge said.

Court hears pants fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Ohio men who claim their constitutional rights were violated when police took their pants for evidence will have their appeal reviewed by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high court agreed Tuesday to hear the government's challenge of a U.S. Circuit Court decision that said the officers erred by not obtaining a search warrant.

Eugene H. Edwards and William T. Livesay were arrested following a May 1970 break-in at the Lebanon, Ohio, post office. The following day, police bought new pants and asked for the ones the men were wearing as evidence.

The prosecution, at the trial, sought to introduce evidence that paint traces found on the pants matched paint from the post office windows.

Defending the officers, the prosecution said the seizure "did not subject respondents to any personal humiliation as would the seizure of trousers immediately following arrest on a public street."

Nixon confers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon conferred with congressional leaders today and won unanimous support for his administration's efforts to halt the Middle East war.

Soviet attitude worries Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is uneasy about a lack of Soviet restraint in the new Middle East war, but U.S. officials are not yet willing to publicly charge Moscow with irresponsibility.

The concern over Soviet attitudes is limited at this time to what the Russians are saying. The officials say there is no indication now that Moscow intends to get involved directly or will supply large new shipments of arms to the Arabs.

The officials are cautious in their judgment of the Soviet role for two reasons: they don't want to go on the record with a firm assessment that might quickly be proved wrong, and they don't want to get into a shouting match with Moscow.

So far, the officials acknowledge, this has been a relatively one-sided situation. The Soviets have charged Israel with aggression, and their United Nations ambassador, Jacob Malik, said Tuesday night that Israeli leaders are "international criminals."

U. N. gives up on peace search

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council adjourned its debate on the Arab-Israeli war indefinitely Tuesday night because there was no prospect of agreement on a cease-fire resolution.

The Soviet Union boycotted the session for half an hour while Israel was blaming Moscow and the Arabs for the fighting.

Diplomats predicted the council would take up no cease-fire resolution until it became clear which side was likely to win the war.

One European diplomat predicted that if Israel appears to be gaining on the battlefield and threatening new Arab territory, nonaligned nations will sponsor a resolution calling for a "cease-fire and nothing more."

He added that if the Arabs seem to be advancing successfully on Israel, "there would be growing pressure on the United States to save Israel and that would be a dangerous situation."

At the Tuesday night council meeting, Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik broke in on the Israeli speech to say he would not hear "excuses from the representative of murderers and international gangsters."

Hundreds of diplomats and U.N. workers applauded enthusiastically as Malik left the chamber.

No other country spoke on behalf of Israel.

Egypt said during the meeting that there had been an air raid on Cairo and that the Egyptians captured four pilots "who attacked women and children and men in the streets." Israel later denied making such an attack, and foreign newsmen in the Egyptian capital reported two air raid alarms but no evidence of any planes over the main part of the city.

The United States made a brief expression of condolences to all nations whose citizens were "innocent victims" of the warfare but did not mention its earlier proposal for a return to the battle lines that Egypt and Syria crossed on Saturday when the fighting began.

China was silent.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed H. El-Zayyat told the council the United States was reported sending 30 more Phantom Jets to Israel.

The jets, he said, "are the same as the ones that raided Cairo today." He added that U.S. citizens were reported volunteering to join the Israeli air force.

Syria's representative, Mohamed Zakaria Ismael, relayed reports of deaths and injuries to U.N. personnel and others in the Israeli bombing of Damascus on Tuesday.

Ismael said the bombs fell on the Soviet cultural center in Damascus and a residential district.

Malik called the bombing "a barbaric, gangster act" and said he had press reports that the embassies of 10 nations were destroyed and 30 Soviet citizens were killed.

Golan Heights devastation marks furious 3-day battle

By ARTHUR MAX
Associated Press Writer

WITH ISRAELI TROOPS IN OCCUPIED SYRIA (AP) — Charred Syrian tanks were strewn over the field as Israeli armor rumbled by. Israeli soldiers looked tired and grim coming back from battle.

This was the scene Tuesday near the front line in the occupied Golan Heights, where Syrian and Israeli tanks, artillery and aircraft have fought furiously for three days over a few miles of rocky soil.

The area, about two miles from the 1967 cease-fire line in the southern sector of the Golan, was reached by this newsman—apparently one of the first outsiders to arrive deep in the battle zone.

A dozen Russian-made Syrian tanks were scattered over one field only three miles from the scene of further tank duels. No disabled Israeli tanks were visible.

Asked where the damaged Israeli tanks were, a military policeman replied: "There's one on the other side of the field— that's it."

Israel says it has pushed back invading Syrian forces to the cease-fire line, except in a few areas where the Syrians maintain a weakening grasp on a few hundred yards. The evidence seemed to support the claim.

The Israelis admit Syrian tanks penetrated five miles into Israeli-held land in the first surprise assault. Syria claims to have recaptured the mountain plateau, which it lost in the 1967 fighting.

The Syrian tanks were fireblackened and mutilated.

Where were the Syrian tank crews?

A corporal said: "They have been taken care of."

Artillery gunners in the rear told of advancing two or three miles in the last day to provide support fire for armor on the front.

"We follow the line," one gunner said. "whenever it moves, we move. Just the fact that I am here instead of two miles back where I was yesterday is a sign that we are advancing in the line," said the gunner, a physicist in civilian life.

Soldiers in the forward position looked tired and grim. "They are having a rough time of it over there," one trooper said, indicating the direction of the current battle.

The soldiers admitted the Syrians were putting up a stiff fight. Several who fought in the Golan during the 1967 war said this one was much tougher.

"They are not running this time," one man said.

Authorities said the boy, Chris Reedmarer, boarded the bus at Toledo and was enroute to Buckeye Boys Ranch at Grove City, near Columbus.

Lightning bolt injures 4 youths

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Four boys were injured when a lightning bolt struck a group of seventh-graders on a school field and knocked about 10 to the ground, police say.

Bobby May, 10, was in critical condition today at Doctors Hospital and Mike Ball, 11, was in poor condition at Kennedy Hospital after being hit Tuesday afternoon, hospital spokesmen said.

Two other students, Allen Adams, 13, and Phillip Harris, 12, were in satisfactory condition at Doctors.

"A big sheet of lightning which engulfed the whole area" hit the boys as their physical education class ran from a softball field to escape an approaching thunderstorm, teachers at Jefferson Davis Middle School said.

"The kids started to run, like in a panic," said Garth Doyle, a teacher. "I said, 'Hold it,' and then it hit.

"I didn't even see the flash. When I shook off the impact, I saw one of the kids—Adams— running and holding his head. He said, 'Coach, I've been hit.'

"About 10 others were lying on the ground. Two of them, Bobby and Mike, didn't get up."

Doyle said two other teachers gave the May and Ball boys mouth to mouth resuscitation until ambulances arrived at the field.

Hughes donations to Nixon studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's close friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo has confirmed receiving two secret $50,000 payments from billionaire Howard Hughes, according to Senate Watergate committee sources.

The sources said the committee wants to learn whether the $100,000 was linked to a federal antitrust ruling said in published reports to have permitted Hughes to expand his Las Vegas, Nev., interests.

One committee member said he would like Rebozo and the rarely seen Hughes called to testify in public.

In today's public session the committee was to hear Michael W. McMinoway, identified as a $1,000-a-month GOP spy whose reports from inside the campaign of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., were given the code name "Sedan Chair 2."

Tuesday, the committee heard from John Buckley, a former FBI agent, who said Nixon political operatives code-named him "Fat Jack" when he worked as a lunch-hour spy photographing internal documents in the campaign of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

Committee sources said Rebozo told staff investigators he received the $100,000 sometime in 1970 from Richard Danner, manager of a Hughes-owned Las Vegas hotel. Rebozo said he returned the money last spring, to Chester Davis, a Hughes lawyer, the sources said. They said Davis would be questioned privately later today.

Several other Hughes associates have been questioned, the sources said. Among them is Robert A. Maheu, a former Hughes executive, who has testified in a California lawsuit that Nixon asked Rebozo to receive the money, which Maheu said was intended as a campaign contribution.

Rebozo's bank records have been subpoenaed by the committee.

Israeli economy strained by war

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — One local bakery has 10,000 extra loaves of bread, but the Chamber of Commerce reports a shortage of matches. Markets have plenty of food but some shops are running low on radio batteries.

War has shattered shopping patterns in Israel. Ample supplies are on hand, but the government has imposed rationing of food, gasoline and other items.

Housewives besieged the supermarkets when the hostilities began on Saturday, cleaning off the shelves and smashing a few glass entrance doors in the rush. But the panic buying subsided almost immediately, and business and supplies now are back to normal.

Bakeries produced triple their normal output the first day of the war, but the housewives didn't stock up. The bakers were stuck with stale loaves.

Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir announced Tuesday that the bill for the war so far is $952 million, and economist David Krivine wrote in the Jerusalem Post: "The national budget for 1973 can be thrown into the wastepaper basket."

In the past, estimates were that Israel could not fight a long war because it lacked resources. Economists now say the government has ample foreign exchange holdings, its own fleet of cargo ships to carry imports and its own arms factories.

"Israel can fight a long war," Krivine wrote, but production of some items is bound to drop because so many workers have been called into the army. Export targets are not likely to be met. Construction work is already hampered because many Arab laborers from the West Bank of the Jordan and the Gaza Strip—both occupied in the 1967 war—are staying home.

Many businesses have slowed down because personnel are being called up for war. The Jerusalem Post said more than 80 per cent of its drivers and delivery men have been mobilized for military duty.

2 Marion escapees are sought

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Lawmen in north-central Ohio searched today for two inmates who cut their way through a heavy wire fence surrounding the Marion Correctional Institution and escaped early today.

Prison officials identified the two as Mark D. Hodges, 32, of Findlay, and Dennis Burns, 24, of Canton.

Hodges was sentenced to Marion for cutting with intent to wound and attempted murder. Burns had been convicted of first-degree murder.

Hodges gained notority in 1969 when he was acquitted of first-degree murder in the slaying of Karen Kern, the niece of Ohio AFL-CIO president Frank King.

He was later acquitted on a charge of shooting with intent to kill another girl and assault on a 13-year-old girl with intent to commit rape.

Today's escape was the first at the Marion prison since July when two men led law officers on a wild chase that resulted in the traffic death of a Marion County deputy and the kidnapping of two families.

Patches of dense fog over parts of Ohio this morning were expected to linger through early afternoon, then dissipate under sunny skies.

Generally clear conditions tonight will bring cooler temperatures, allowing fog to develop again by late tonight.

Temperatures just before daybreak ranged mostly in the 50s, with the coolest reading 49 degrees at Youngstown.

Highs today will be in the 70s, possibly reaching the 80s in southern sections.

A slow-moving cold front was expected to bring showers into Ohio by the weekend.

A chance of showers Friday through Sunday. Mild Friday, turning gradually cooler. Highs in the 70s Friday, lowering into the 60s by Sunday. Lows in the 50s and low 60s.

War in Mideast

But Israel said Tuesday night was "generally quiet" on both fronts.

Egypt and Syria said Tuesday that they had beaten back repeated Israeli attacks and were poised for new advances. An Israeli spokesman admitted Tuesday night that Israel's counteroffensive had stalled in both the Sinai Desert and the Golan Heights.

Cities in Israel, Egypt and Syria were blacked out after an Israeli raid Tuesday on Damascus and another Syrian city, but no air attacks on any cities Tuesday night were reported. Tel Aviv had a four-minute air alert at 4:30 a.m., but apparently it was a false alarm.

Egyptian officials at the United Nations claimed the Israeli air force also bombed Cairo Tuesday, but the Israelis denied this. There was no confirmation from the Egyptian capital.

U.S. military analysts told newsmen in Washington they believe the Israelis can drive the Egyptian and Syrian forces back behind the cease-fire lines they crossed last Saturday but only at "a very considerable cost." One official said the Arabs "are doing better this time than they have in the past."

The Pentagon said the amphibious assault ship Guadalcanal, with 2,000 Marines and 30 helicopters on board, was cruising in the eastern Mediterranean along with the aircraft carrier Independence and escort ships. The Guadalcanal could be used to rescue Americans endangered by the fighting.

Senate passes strong strip mine measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tough strip mine regulation bill has passed the Senate and now goes to the House, where environmentalists say a weaker version is being considered in committee.

The Senate approved the bill 82 to 8 Tuesday after rejecting an industry-backed move to soften its reclamation requirements.

The industry amendment, offered by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., was defeated 62 to 29.

The bill, which applies only to coal mines, requires mine operators to restore the land to its approximate original contour.

Allen's amendment would have permitted other configurations "compatible with the surrounding terrain" as long as they were found to control erosion effectively.

Sen. Henry A. Jackson, D-Wash., chief sponsor of the bill, said Allen's amendment would not have required the elimination of the highwall, the vertical cut made by strip miners.

Allen said the requirements in the bill "very conceivably would make surface mining all but impossible in many parts of the nation."

He read from a letter in which he said Tennessee Valley Authority officials told him the bill could double the cost of coal production.

Jackson said it would increase costs only 60 cents a ton.

Meanwhile, the environment and mines and mining subcommittees of the House adopted a provision in the House bill that opponents said also would permit strip miners to leave highwalls behind.

Rule Urbana schools paid cash illegally

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor's office says the Urbana City School District paid more than $58,000 to 16 retiring teachers and school employes under unauthorized merit pay schedules.

The retirement benefits should not have been paid because the pay schedules approved by the school board were contrary to state law, said Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

In one instance, the auditor said, seven retiring teachers got nearly $36,000 under schedules approved May 14, 1969.

The schedules applied unused sick leave, the auditor said, to the retirement benefits, and "payment based upon unused sick leave is subtrafuge and in contravention of" two sections of Ohio law.

Another pay schedule approved Dec. 21, 1970, under which eight retiring employes got $19,600, was unauthorized, the auditor said.

The auditor, in addition, said the board should not have paid benefits of $3,100 to a retiring school nurse and attendance officer.

The auditor, in a separate report, said the Knox County Joint Vocational School District spent more than $20,000 on telecommunications equipment with securing proper approval.

Mushrooms are recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 540,000 institutional cans of mushrooms produced by Tusco Mushroom Products, Inc., of Beach City, Ohio, are being recalled, the Food and Drug Administration has announced.

The FDA said Tuesday that laboratory analyses indicated some of the mushrooms had been underprocessed. The No. 10-sized cans normally are sold to food processors and institutions, not to consumers, the FDA said.

Tusco officials were quoted as saying the recalled mushrooms were packed under Tusco labels and 60 private labels, and distributed to users in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois.

About 60,000 cans remain on the market. The FDA said that although there was no evidence of toxin or ill effects, users were being advised not to eat the mushrooms and to return them to stores where purchased.

Grocery burns; firemen stranded

DEARFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Fire gutted a grocery store in downtown Dearfield overnight, while volunteer firemen stood by a block away, unable to find the keys to their fire truck.

The Portage County Sheriff's Department reported that someone apparently broke into the fire station and stole the keys. The department reported it suspects the same person may have started the fire.

Three volunteer departments were called to assist, but firemen said by then it was too late to save the building.

Stock list goes lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were lower today in profit taking as the market consolidated after tremendous gains in the last few weeks, analysts said.

They also said the Mideast crisis was helping to depress prices.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down 2.49 at 971.70. Declining Big Board issues had a more than 2-to-1 lead over gainers.

IBM was untraded awaiting news dissemination of its thirdquarter profits—$2.81 a share, compared with $2.21 for the same period a year ago. Indications were it would open in the $280 to $290 range. It closed Monday at 261¾, up 2¼.

Telex opened down 1 at 5⅛ on the Big Board. IBM AND Telex were untraded Tuesday. The U.S. District Court judge who ordered IBM to pay Telex $352.5 million in antitrust penalties announced he had made substantial errors in his computation of the award and ordered consideration of the penalties.

On the American Stock Exchange, McCulloch Oil was the volume leader, up ⅛ at 5½. The Amex market-value index was down .25 at 107.62.

The Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down .19 at 59.35.

Elvis ends marriage

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Singer Elvis Presley and his 26-year-old wife Priscilla have ended their marriage with a friendly kiss and a property settlement making her a millionaire.

Presley, 38, was granted his divorce Tuesday in Los Angeles County Superior Court. The couple, married six years, agreed on a modified property settlement involving $1.5 million.

In seeking the divorce, the singer cited irreconcilable differences because of pressure from constant traveling. The hearing was closed to the public.

The Presleys were married in Las Vegas, Nev., in May 1967 after a courtship that began in Germany. She was the daughter of an Army officer and he was the world's best known tank-driving corporal.

Under the settlement, Presley will pay $725,000 in cash outright and another $720,000 at $6,000 a month over a 10-year period.

She also will receive half the proceeds from the intended sale of their Beverly Hills home; five per cent of the outstanding stock in Elvis Presley Music Inc. and White Haven Music Inc.; $4,200 a month for her additional support for a year; and $4,200 a month support for their 5-year-old daughter Lisa.

Vehicle pileup claims 1 life

MEDINA, Ohio (AP(—One person was killed and 12 others were injured today when a dozen vehicles collided, some in flames, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

No identification was available immediately.

The patrol said the crash involved two semi-trailer trucks, one tanker truck loaded with nonflamable material, and nine cars. The mishap occurred on fog-shrouded I-71 between Ohio 18 and Ohio 57 south of the Ohio 18 intersection, the patrol said.

Two of the trucks erupted in flames but there was no explosion, the patrol said.

Richardson urges no House action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson urged the House Judiciary Committee today to reject an effort to force a congressional investigation of charges against Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Richardson said the federal grand jury now looking into the charges of bribery, extortion and tax evasion involving Agnew should be allowed to complete its investigation without any interruption by House action.

The attorney general made his position known in a letter to Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, which has before it a resolution calling on it to request all evidence against Agnew from the Justice Department.

Union trustees OK current bills

A payment of $5,537 on the bill for the Armco steel building extension to the Union Township building at the junction of the Lewis and Devalon roads was approved by the Board of Trustees at its meeting Tuesday night. The building, now nearing completion, will cost $12,925.

That payment was among the bills totaling $6,300 which were approved for payment. The others were for road patching material, fill dirt for the Sugar Creek Baptist Cemetery, U.S. 35-N, and Sugar Creek Methodist Cemetery, Palmer Rd., for stone, gasoline and labor.

The trustees also agreed to purchase a new tractor and mower and are preparing to advertise for bids.

The Board of Trustees scheduled a meeting for 8 p.m. Oct.18 with the Ohio Water Service Co. to discuss the possibility of extending water lines to the North Shore addition north of the city.

GOP faces uphill struggle in 1974 senatorial races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican campaign strategists say they face an uphill battle to head off Senate losses in 1974 after Ohio Sen. William B. Saxbe announced his retirement and sources reported Kentucky Sen. Marlow W. Cook also will step down.

Democrats, meanwhile, said they have a good chance to capture both seats in 1974, as well as the Utah seat being surrendered by 74-year-old Republican Sen. Wallace F. Bennett.

They see a chance to hold their present 57-43 advantage and perhaps increase it in 1974.

Saxbe, who made his decision known Tuesday, was the fifth senator to announce he won't run again in 1974. In addition to Bennett, the others are Republican Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, and Democrats Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Alan Bible of Nevada.

Republicans suffered another blow last week when Iowa Gov. Robert Ray, rated their strongest likely candidate for the Hughes seat, announced he would not run for the Senate.

Interviews with both Republican and Democratic campaign officials produced general agreement on the current outlook. Of the 34 seats being contested in 1974, the Democrats now hold 19.

Besides Utah, Kentucky and Ohio, the GOP-held seats in which Democrats think they have the best chance in 1974 are those of Sen. Milton R. Young in North Dakota and Robert Dole in Kansas.

Besides Iowa and Nevada, Republicans consider Sen. Mike Gravel of Alaska vulnerable and feel they have a chance against Sens. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri, Birch E. Bayh of Indiana and Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut.

South Dakota Sen. George McGovern, the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee, is considered by both parties to be in a relatively strong position in his home state.

City Chest solicitation machinery now in gear

The framework for house-to-house solicitation for the Community Chest campaign in the Washington C.H. residential has been completed, the co-chairmen, Mrs. Paul Johnson and Miss Mary Frances Snider, announced Wednesday as plans for the start of the canvass precinct by prescinct were put in final form.

The campaign got under way Sept. 17 with the business and industrial groups. The goal this year is $27,000 (a reduction from the $34,000 which was not reached last year) to support the programs of 10 local organizations next year.

With the campaign ready to start, the ward chairmen announced the precinct chairmen, who have set up their own organization of solicitors for the canvass.

THE ORGANIZATION for the rural residential campaign is not quite complete, but will be within a day or two, Jim Dunn, Chamber of Commerce executive vice president and secretary of the Community Chest, said.

The First Ward chairman is Mrs. Dorothy Sanderson, 210 Ogle St.; Second Ward, Mrs. Ralph Tate, 57 Hawthorn Dr.; Third Ward, Mrs. Ralph Cook, 1229 High St.; and Mrs. John Stimpert, 10 Oxford Pl.

The precinct chairmen are:

First Ward - Precinct A, Sandy Fackler; B, Jean Yarger; C, Judy Stillings; D, Terry Ferguson; E, Myra Shaw; and F, Sharon Prater.

Second Ward - A, Mildred Wheat; C, Bonnie Hurley; D, Kathy Fountain; and E, Tippy Sheppard.

Third Ward - A, Mrs. Dwight Foy, B, Paul Breitigan and Joe O'Brien; C, Tess Tate; and D, Linda Hatmacher and Sue Maddux.

Fourth Ward - A, Mary Marchant; 4-B, Beverly Wilson; 4-C, Sharon Dean; 4-D, Bill Cales and Dick Maddux; and 4-E, Aileen Wilson.

The co-chairmen said the campaign will be assisted by members of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girl Groups and their adult leaders.

Although varying time schedules are anticipated for the four wards and their respective precincts, all groups hope to complete their campaign efforts by Saturday.

Opinion And Comment

Quick comment cards

Someone could make a mint supplying sets of appropriate flash cards to frustrated drivers. The frustration referred to is the sort that arises when there's no way to admonish, instruct, chastise, insult or otherwise appropriately respond to a piece of knuckleheaded driving.

Suppose the fellow just ahead makes an abrupt and heart-stopping lane change without benefit of directional lights. Think what a joy it would be to slip alongside and display a card reading: "Use Your Turn Signal, Dummy! Or perhaps, if one chose not be quite so blunt about it: Turn Signals are Dandy. Or maybe just a dignified: Turn Signal, Please.

The possibilities are endless. All the signs would have to be simply worded, of course; fast moving traffic is not the place for complicated messages, though some bumper stickers seek to rise above this fact of life. A driver might carry a selection, coded for quick reference - some cards bearing specific advice, others for more general use, e.g.: Stupid!

Moreover, the cards could be geared to suit varying temperaments. Only a driver with a strain of truculence in his makeup, for example, would venture to use the above-mentioned Stupid! card. Some might opt for the subtle, others for the approach direct. But there could be something for everyone to blow off steam with. As noted above, there's a mint in the idea.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Confidence at its lowest point

WASHINGTON — In the 40 years that I have been covering national politics I have never known anything quite like the cynicism about the political process prevailing today.

Indeed, cynicism is an inadequate word, since most Americans have long looked cynically on the politics of who gets what and why.

Hostility more nearly expresses the mood that seems to be nationwide. Extending from top to bottom of the political structure, it is quite impartial as regards parties and persons. The opprobrium falls with few exceptions on officeholders of whatever stripe, with judges coming in for exceptionally bitter denunciation.

The reasons are, of course, not hard to find. Watergate is one — the orgy of lying, deceit, intrigue held up for public view to a vast television audience. And, incidentally, the large crocodile tears shed by conservative Republicans over what they say is the public revulsion against the Ervin Committee miss the point.

The public is fed up not with the surfeit of evidence but out of frustration that nothing is done to punish the malefactors and take measures to insure that the same abuses cannot recur. This was the word brought back by discerning members of Congress following the August recess.

THE AGNEW AFFAIR, compounding President Nixon's own confrontation with the courts and the Congress, is another reason. Both the President and the Vice President seem to be saying that they are above the law and intend by one means or another to stay out of reach.

Here the media have much to answer for. A succession of leaks from sources still unidentifiable have undermined Agnew's position, and one result could be to make a fair trial by an impartial jury impossible. Agnew has strong grounds for complaint and this is one reason for the sympathy he has generated, with a defense fund that could be substantial.

The system of leaks, including even leaks of secret grand jury transcripts, has its pernicious aspect. As was shown during the Watergate hearings, White House power brokers from time to time planted leaks as rewards to reporters and commentators who might thereby respond with praise for the leakers.

Those friendly adjectives — able, hard-working, conscientious — dropped in judiciously were the reward.

IN ANOTHER WAY, too, the media bear a responsibility. That is in having built up the men in the seats of power subsequently brought low. When they were riding high the Haldemans, the Ehrlichmans, Mitchell, Kleindienst, even Maurice Stans were too often treated as though they had been anointed by some divine authority to rule the nation. Therefore, when they were brought down the disillusion was all the greater.

For all this, however, if it had not been for the media, and in particular for the Washington Post, the cover-up might have worked. Having perforce to rely on anonymous sources, the Post's investigative team of Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward blew the Watergate story out of the water despite repeated denials from the White House.

The way was opened not only to the hearings but to other cover-ups such as the ITT antitrust case. This last may prove, as it is prosecuted, to be the most damaging of all the scandals.

What then for the future? Whatever it may spell for the next election, the ugliness of the present mood is undeniable. A vote of no-confidence brought against officeholders and office seekers, from President down to county judge, must be profoundly disturbing for the future of a free government.

WHEN HE WAS asked at the second press conference after the four-month interval of silence what could be done to restore confidence in his leadership, which was another way of restoring confidence in government, the President relied with the element of self-pity that concerns observers who, like the White House regulars, follow at firsthand his state of mind.

He spoke of how night after night he had been subjected on television in prime time to innuendo, leaks and the "leers and sneers" of commentators. He went on to say that confidence would be restored by the President not allowing his own confidence to be destroyed. But he concluded with the following:

"What the President says will not restore it and what you ladies and gentlemen say will certainly not restore it."

That leaves somewhere in the stratosphere the question of how confidence is to be restored — and confidence not alone in the highest elective office but in the lowliest office down to county judge and sheriff.

Fashions stay same at Frederick's

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The more things change in the fashion world, the more they stay the same at Frederick's of Hollywood.

While everyone else was promoting the braless look, Frederick's kept right on selling 50 different versions of the pushin, push-up padded bra.

While the shoe industry clogged the market with clunky platforms, Frederick's kept stocking up on sling-back pumps with 5-inch stiletto heels.

And when the midi swept the nation, Frederick's never abandoned the mini.

In business for 27 years and making more money every year, Frederick's of Hollywood has ignored fickle fashion trends and stayed with a basic philosophy: women should dress for men and men like sexy women.

"You show a man an elegant miss and a sexy babe and the sexy babe will win out every time," said Fred Mellinger, the real Frederick, scion of an empire built on foam rubber, clingy knits, maribou-trimmed nightgowns, rhinestone-studded skycraper heels and naughty little items like crotchless panty hose.

"My concept of sexiness and female beauty is nice boobs with cleavage, slim waist, good hips and long shapely legs. I design clothes inspired by the beautiful women of the world who upset kingdoms and broke empires. I make clothes for the woman who walks into a room and is hated by the women but desired by the men," said Mellinger, a charming, roguish 57-year-old.

Mellinger has had the idea since the days he was a mere underwear buyer in New York 30 years ago. He kept getting in trouble with his bosses for suggesting things like panties with a zipper and a heart-shaped lock, so he set off on his own to prove that he wasn't the only one who liked the sexy babe.

Today, Frederick's of Hollywood has 69 stores in such supposedly unsexy places like Omaha and Kansas City.

Sales in 1972 were $12 million, a 25 per cent increase over 1971. More than 8 million catalogues featuring more than 500 items are shipped all over the world each year.

In November a collection of catalogues will be released in a 256-page book called "Frederick's of Hollywood, 1947-1973 — 26 years of mail-order seduction."

The catalogues, which are released eight times a year, are filled with drawings of longhaired, tiny-waisted women wearing seductive items like a see-through mesh jumpsuit captioned "No, no Nannette" and tight pants called "Hips Ahoy."

A pleated mini-dress is labeled "Flirty Purty." Another jump suit with cut-outs in strategic places is called "Jeepers Peepers." There are "Fringed Frenzy" nightgowns, "Mate-bait" gold lame evening dresses, and "Sin-sational" hiphuggers.

Every few pages in the catalogue is a picture of dapper Frederick saying things like "Be the MOST with my fabulous originals designed ... to bring out the REAL YOU!"

Solar energy goes begging

Ralph Nader, the country's best known consumer advocate, has a flare for sharp turns of phrase that needle giant corporations. This is one of his many qualities which do not endear him to the movers and shakers of industry.

Nader demonstrated his talent the other day in the course of a speech at the Western Governors Conference session in Oregon. He was talking on one of his favorite subjects, an alleged minimal corporate concern for environmental values.

Having said that switching to nuclear power as a source of electrical energy might turn out to be "technological suicide," he suggested that instead we should develop relatively non-polluting solar and geothermal energy.

Then came the needle: "Solar energy has not been developed up to now because the oil industry doesn't own the sun."

That is a facile over-simplification. There may be some truth, though, in the thrust of Nader's remark. Otherwise how explain the industry's almost total lack of interest, thus far, in developing direct power from the sun?

"SHE BID ME A CHEERY GOOD MORNING. IS THAT A GOOD SIGN?"

Hal Boyle . . Time for double talk drill

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody learns at least two languages in his life, whether he realizes it or not.

And if he picks up a foreign language, too, that makes three.

The first language anyone usually learns is the language the people speak where he spends his childhood. Here the native language, of course is American, an offshoot largely of the English language.

The child learns American here because he needs a language in which to say what he is thinking. As he grows older and less truthful, however, he finds he needs a second language in which he can say something — but not at all what he is really thinking.

Slowly picking his way, often by himself, he evolves that necessary second language — double talk. This is usually a mirror image of his native language.

Thus if you were born in New York, you'd learn American double talk; in Paris, French double talk; in Minsk, Russian double talk.

So, while its accent may be national or even provincial, double talk is international, for the need for it arises wherever hypocrisy exists, and hypocrisy, common sense tells us, exists in every land containing human beings more than 4 years old.

The more skillful you become at this second language — double talk — the abler you should be at getting what you want from human society. So it will pay you learn it early and study it well all your life long.

For the benefit of the beginner, here are a few common examples of double talk. In each case, the double talk used by the speaker is in quotes, followed by what he really was thinking:

"I'd rather be right than president of this corporation." — Anyway, as senior vice president I'll probably live longer.

"I have just begun to fight." — If we don't start winning soon, we'd better start getting this ship to hell out of here.

"England expects every man to do his duty." Otherwise, it'll be a long swim home for him — or 20 years in the brig without grog.

"I don't mind admitting I had to come up the hard way." — But you'd think at least one member of my family would have left something behind besides debts.

"Oh, no, you're not boring me in the least." — But you might make the situation more interesting if you'd simply drop dead.

"Pardon me, I'm not crowding you, am I?" — What kind of nut are you, anyway? Did you think I'd just let you elbow me out of my place in this line?

"After all, money can't buy happiness." — But if you've got the right kind of dough, baby, you can buy me.

"So nice of you to come." — You can do us an even bigger favor by being the first to leave, too.

Darkness in the depths

There was a Chicago story about a couple who stood laughing and egging on a distraught woman poised to jump from a window. "Go ahead and jump," the man taunted. "We don't give a damn." The woman did jump, to her death.

A bizarre episode never to be repeated, shuddering readers thought. Yet now we learn that in Dania, Fla., the same sort of callous indifference to humane values has reared its head. Its many heads: a crowd taunted a despondent woman climbing a water tower, chanting "Higher..... higher," urging her to jump.

To cap the climax, it seems that a similar incident had taken place at the tower a few days earlier. Mob spirit, surely.

But then how account for that grisly couple in Chicago?

Our confidence in man is not shaken, but there is here a reminder of the darkness sometimes glimpsed in the depths of human nature.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Even a scoundrel can look you in eye

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl who never had a date.

Well, I met Ralph, this really nice kid at work. He's 24 and on the quiet side. He's not very sharp looking, but he has nice manners and I think he has good character because he's always talking about his involvement in church youth activities. Ralph asked me if he could meet my parents and ask their permission to date me, which I think is rather unusual for a guy these days, don't you?

I invited him over, and my mother said: "He has such nice manners, it's too bad he isn't taller."

My father said: "I never trust a guy who doesn't look you in the eye when he's talking to you, and this guy is one of them."

Abby, I like Ralph, and want to go out with him. Do you think my father could be right?

DAUGHTER VERSUS FATHER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Yes. And he could also be wrong. There are plenty of scoundrels who can look you squarely in the eye and lie like blazes if there's enough to be gained by it. Get to know Ralph better before making any judgments.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my sister told me her son had committed a crime and was in prison. (She gave me his address so I could write to him.) She said I am the only person she's told, and to please not mention it to the rest of the family. My sister never told me what her son did or how long he's in for, and I didn't want to question her, fearing it might upset her.

I wrote to my nephew, but didn't have the courage to ask him any questions. I did ask him what I could send him. He answered immediately, and told me not to send him anything because he couldn't accept anything. Can this be true?

Should I write to the warden and ask him what my nephew did and how long a sentence he's serving? Also, it doesn't seem reasonable that my nephew can't accept anything from the outside.

CONFIDENTIAL, PLEASE

DEAR CON: If your nephew advised you that he cannot accept anything, believe him. Don't ask the warden for the particulars of your nephew's crime. If your sister didn't choose to tell you, and your nephew doesn't volunteer the information, refrain from asking. It will come out (and so will he, hopefully) eventually.

DEAR ABBY: We're trying to teach out 3-year-old daughter table manners at dinner. I say that dinner is a place to be thankful, unwind, enjoy dinner, and have a pleasant conversation. My husband says it's the place to teach our daughter good manners. I agree, but how do you discipline her and let her enjoy her meal without everyone getting upset?

We're going 'round and 'round. Please help us.

Mom

DEAR MOM: If everyone gets "upset" when you try to teach your child table manners there must be something wrong with your method of teaching. Correct her gently with patience, instead of with anger and harsh criticism. And don't pick at her for every little infraction. Let a few things go. Youngsters who are constantly upset during mealtime often develop stomach disorders later.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to AB BY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Ohio Perspective

Demo candidate screening slated

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Democratic Headquarters has announced a timetable for a candidate screening committee that is expected to make endorsements for the May 1974 primary.

The 27-member committee apparently will end its work by about Jan. 1, despite the objections of some Democrats, including John Glenn, who thinks the state organization should steer clear of primary election endorsements.

Oct. 18 is the date of the committee's organization meeting, but sessions for the purpose of interviewing candidates will not begin until after municipal elections in November.

State Democratic Chairman William A. Lavelle and David Meeker, the party's executive director, have asked all Democrats planning to run for state office in 1974 to notify state headquarters of their plans by registered or certified mail.

Candidates were advised in the latest edition of the Ohio Democrat that interviews will be conducted at party headquarters in Columbus, and that efforts will be made to arrange a date of mutual convenience.

After the interviews, Lavelle will communicate the "findings" of the committee to the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Lavelle said candidates may be permitted to make an appearance before the executive committee, but only after they had been interviewed by the candidates committee. Plans call for the candidates group to complete its work, report to the executive committee, and for the executive committee to act on recommendations "prior to the end of calendar year 1973 insofar as possible," the chairman said.

The executive committee voted 37-18 to establish the committee after an angry speech by Glenn in which he accused Gov. John J. Gilligan and state party leaders of loading the panel against him in favor of Clevelander Howard Matzenbam.

This was after Gilligan requested Glenn to run for lieutenant governor, the former astronaut said.

The makeup of the committee is as follows: One representative each from Federated Democratic Women of Ohio, Black Elected Democrats of Ohio, Young Democrats, Ohio Democratic Lawyers Association, Democrats of the Ohio House, Democrats of the Ohio Senate, and Ohio AFL—CIO, and the Ohio United Auto Workers Union.

In addition, the Democratic chairmen of Butler, Cuyahoga, Franklin, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lake, Lorain, Lucas, Mahoning, Montgomery, Stark, Summit, and Trumbull counties will serve.

Meeker will be a member, and there will be one member each named by Gilligan, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, and State Treasurer Gertrude W. Donahey.

Scramble starts for Saxbe seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, as praised Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, as "a capable and forthright officeholder, but stopped short of entering the race to succeed the retiring senator.

Brown acknowledged only that Saxbe's decision not to seek re-election in 1974 "leaves a void which the Ohio Republican Party must fill with the most qualified candidate..."

The Urbana congressman said he has been making "soundings throughout our state to determine whether I might be an appropriate dandidate to serve Ohio" for the last several months.

"I'll make a public announcement of my own plans in the near future," he said.

Saxbe's announcement Tuesday prompted several candidates to jump into the race, or at least indicate they might.

Lt. Gov. John Brown plunged immediately into the race for the 1974 GOP nomination.

U.S. Rep. William Keating of Cincinnati, mentioned as a third possible entrant into the primary, said from his Washington office he will not announce his decision until late October.

Former State Rep. Keith McNamara of Columbus called a news conference today and was expected to say he will seek the nomination for lieutenant governor, the office John Brown will be vacating.

Former State Sen. Robin Turner of Marion said that if Clarence Brown goes for Saxbe's seat, he may run for Congress in Brown's Seventh Congressional District.

Speculation arose quickly that Saxbe may head back to his farm at Mechanicsburg for a slight lull, then come out later in a bid for the GOP nomination for governor.

But as he has in the past, the senator indicated he would not get into a primary contest with former Gov. James Rhodes, who "already is running hard . . . it would be wasteful blood letting."

At the same time, Saxbe left the door a little ajar and hinted he might run if Rhodes should decide to drop out. The senator said he regarded that prospect as "unlikely, I don't expect that."

Rhodes reiterated he is in the race to stay, and will not heed the wishes of some Republicans who think he, at 64, should step aside after having served eight years in the governor's office.

The former governor praised Saxbe and said he has been "an asset to the party."

"It's too early to tell" whether Saxbe's withdrawal could hurt the state party's 1974 chances, he added.

State Republican Chairman Kent McGough, who said Monday he expected Saxbe's announcement, said "I'm disappointed, but not surprised."

The chairman said he believes either of the two Browns, Keating, or others who might get into the race can win with "a well organized campaign if they work hard."

Saxbe said he thinks Republicans can hold the seat "with a good candidate."

Besides the two congressmen and the lieutenant governor, others who have been mentioned include Ohio House Minority Leader Charles Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, and U.S. Rep. Charles Whalen of Dayton.

Lunchbox yields something else; workman charged

A strange meal was discovered in a lunchbox carried by Lawrence E. Hamilton, 37, of 429 Millikan Ave.

Walter Hocket, a security guard at Mac Tools, where Hamilton works, asked Hamilton to display the box's contents, Tuesday at 4:30 p.m., and found three screwdrivers and some feminine hygiene items.

Hamilton was served a private warrant for petty larceny.

A radio and a .22 rifle missing from the residence of Ron Larson, 418 Fifth St., may promote the loss of two friends.

Larson discovered the theft Tuesday, at 7:50 p.m. and talked to a neighbor who told him that two men in a red car were asking about him and said they'd be back later.

Two friends of Larson's from Mansfield had left a stereo set, a guitar and the now-missing radio last week.

He is hopefully awaiting their return with his rifle.

Court hears Ray bid for freedom

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday took under advisement the latest bid for freedom by James Earl Ray, the convicted killer of Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray's attorney said his client was "brow-beaten and bribed . . . and deprived of effective counsel all the way down the line."

The three-judge panel heard almost an hour of arguments and questioned both sides in the appeal.

Ray's lawyer, Bernard Fensterwald Jr., contends Ray entered a guilty plea under faulty legal counsel.

"He felt he had no choice," said Fensterwald, pressing for an evidentiary hearing. A U.S. District Court in Nashville recently turned down the hearings request.

Ray, who is serving a 99-year sentence for the April 4, 1968, murder of the civil rights leader, has spent the past 14 months in "a concrete tomb," Fensterwald said.

"That doesn't have anything to do with the issue," said Judge Anthony Celebrezze.

Fensterwald argued that Ray must be permitted better conditions in order to help explain the "omissions" and "irregularities" that occurred at his trial.

"His mental and physical health will not be proper for him to defend himself," said Fensterwald.

Attorney W. Henry Haile, representing the State of Tennessee, said the district court refusal for a hearing should stand due to Ray's "voluntary admission of guilt." Haile called the plea "conclusive."

The judges questioned Fensterwald at length over Ray's guilty plea.

The attorney maintained Ray received "outrageous" counsel at his trial and said his attorney "badgered him into a guilty plea."

The judges asked if the guilty plea was coerced from Ray, why he didn't "bring it up with the judge?"

Fensterwald replied: "It's remarkable Ray got up and said anything after being in that steel tomb for eight months."

Fensterwald argued that Ray's second lawyer, Percy Foreman, had a "conflict of interest"—a contract to Ray's rights of written articles. The attorney said the guilty plea should be void as a result.

Fensterwald also contends evidence that would tend to help Ray—a ballistics study and an eyewitness—was wrongfully withheld by the prosecution.

Price supports still available

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is letting farmers know through local offices that government price support loans are available on 1973 crops and can provide a measure of financial comfort to growers.

But statistics show that wheat farmers, for example, are being attracted much more by recently high cash market prices. In Kansas, the Sept. 15 average price of wheat paid farmers was $4.52 per bushel, compared with the government's national price support loan rate of $1.25 per bushel.

As of Sept. 1, according to USDA, only 28.5 million bushels of new-crop wheat nationally was under price support loan, about half of what farmers had under loan a year earlier from 1972 production.

The higher cash market prices, for other commodities as well as wheat, have caused many farmers to sell outright rather than go through the procedures to get support loans.

Officials in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service have sent to state and county offices a series of sample news released aimed at reminding producers how the loan programs operate.

"Producers may find advantages in the loan program for interim crop income if they plan to sell at a later date, thus providing themselves with greater independence in their crop marketing," one of the proposed news releases said.

There was a cautionary note, however, in the statement that said ASCS "is not in a position to tell farmers when or how to market" their crops.

"Even though market prices are above loan, it's good business for producers to be aware of the marketing options available to them," the agency said.

A spokesman said the suggestions on price support loans were sent to field offices of the ASCS mainly in anticipation of the fall harvest of corn, soybeans, cotton and other crops that qualify for government supports.

Set phone calls for prisoners

CHARLESTON, W.Va. — A pilot program is being started under which state prison inmates "on good behavior" will be able to make unmonitored, toll-free telephone calls to their families, Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. said today.

Moore termed the program at Moundsville "a five-minute parole system" and called it "a major step forward in terms of penal reform."

He said at a news conference he hoped to have the system in operation within 10 days.

Ditch project wins approval

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners Tuesday afternoon approved a project for improvements of the Persinger Ditch.

Fayette County Engineer Charles P. Wagner said preliminary cost estimates for the improvement are $7,500, or approximately $15 per acre.

The Persinger Ditch, which involves 501 acres of land, is located one mile south of Rattlesnake Creek on CCC Highway-W and affects five aln-downers.

The request for improvements was petitioned to the commissioners by Dr. J.H. Persinger. The improvements on the existing ditch include widening and deepening the channel to provide better drainage.

3 more write-ins declare candidacy

Three more persons have filed petitions with the Fayette County Board of Educations declaring themselves as write-in candidates for the Nov. 6 election.

George Thomas Anders, Sollars Rd., has declared himself as a write-in candidate for the Fayette County Board of Education. Ray C. Deere, of Bloomingburg, has filed as a write-in for Bloomingburg Council, and G.H. Biddle for a seat on the Board of Public Affairs at Bloomingburg.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC-TV tonight rolls out "Doc Elliot," a once-a-month series starring James Franciscus as a young physician who has fled the New York rat race for the rural life in Colorado.

You should watch tonight's show, if only for the scenery. It's beautiful, relaxing and may spark demands that all large cities be torn down and forests grown in their place. Let us hope this happens.

The series is set in a small town near the Rockies, although its producers say it was filmed in the community of Mount Pinos in California's rugged Los Padres National Forest near Santa Barbara.

No matter. The view is almost as good and more than makes up for the hack plot of tonight's "Doc Elliot," in which the good doctor helps a young woman blinded by cataracts since the age of six.

The woman is portrayed by Meredith Baxter. Last season, she was married to a handsome New York cabdriver-playright in "Bridget Loves Bernie."

This time, she's married to an ugly, bewhiskered, reclusive and dirt-poor farmer who tends to shoot at anyone who intrudes on his life.

The serious intruding starts after he fires two barrels of birdshot into the aft section of a trespassing hunter. The hunter's companions put a .22-caliber slug through the farmer's leg.

Doc Elliot, who makes his rural house calls in a radio-equipped camper truck, goes to treat him, meets his sightless wife and in due course suspects that her eye cataracts aren't permanent.

He lures a friend, a big-city eye specialist, to the area on the pretext of fishing matters. It soon is decided that an operation may save her sight.

The farmer grudgingly agrees to it. But when she leaves for the operation, he gets drunk, tears up the town saloon and confesses he fears losing her if she ever sees how really homely he is.

"Ah'm a warthawg, mister," he blearily tells Doc Elliot.

And Ah think this is plumb awful dialogue and there's a lot of it in the show, even though the only country people who really talk this way are the poor script farmers who work the Hollywood Hills.

Miss Baxter, a good actress, seems to have the most trouble threading her way through the dialogue, but she performs as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Despite the script, the show has a nice feel to it, partly because of Noah Berry, who plays a justice of the peace and general store owner, and Neva Patterson, cast as the widow of a doctor whose practice has been taken over by Doc Elliot.

Airplane crash kills 8 persons

INKSTER, Mich. (AP) — Eight persons aboard a twin-engine plane died Tuesday evening when the craft crashed into a densely populated residential area, authorities said.

Officials said the airplane skidded about 550 feet down a street lined by homes and slammed into a utility pole but there were no reports of injuries to anyone on the ground.

Inkster police said two men, two women, three young girls and a boy were killed in the crash.

The Beechcraft airplane crashed about 7:30 p.m. while attempting to land at nearby Detroit Metropolitan Airport in foggy weather, said the Federal Aviation Administration.

The agency said the registration of the craft not been confirmed and that the bodies of the eight aboard had not been identified.

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Hamilton authorities were expected to arrive today in Oklahoma City, Okla., where the body of a woman, believed to be from here, was found Sunday.

Authorities said clothing on the body matched that reportedly worn by Mary Ann Mink, 19, when she disappeared from a magazine subscription sales crew Aug. 18.

The crew notified police when Miss Mink failed to report back to the crew after an evening of door-to-door sales. Cause of the death was not immediately known.

Ohio farm amendment gains support

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Issue One fails to pass in the November election, it will drive up taxes on farmlands to such an extent it will no longer be possible to farm them, Seth Taft said Tuesday.

Taft, a Cuyahoga County commissioner and chairman of Citizens to Save Open Space, said a 50 per cent jump in farmland value and taxes are both in prospect if the issue fails.

Issue One would allow farmland to be taxed on the basis of its use rather than market value, which the Ohio Supreme Court said they must be based.

Taft said the Supreme Court decision couldn't have come at a worse time. He said land speculators are driving up the price—the market value—of Ohio farm land.

Taft, at a news conference and later at a rally of farm women, said most farmers are confronted with one huge tax increase after another if the issue fails.

"Not only will their land be taxed at its speculative value," he said, "but the valuations are to be adjusted annually to reflect market changes, one farmer's selling price setting another farmer's tax rate."

Taft said the only opponent of Issue One was "ignorance and apathy."

A poll showed, he said, that only one city person out of nine knew that Issue One was about.

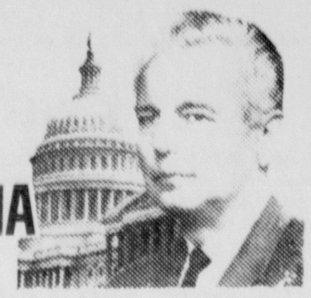
WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio



WASHINGTON — Even with all the assurances of a presidential veto, the House recently passed legislation providing $800 million in operating subsidies for urban mass transit systems.

I am strongly opposed to the legislation and believe that it should be vetoed. Neither will it bail out the systems in distress nor will it help to improve mass transit in the country. But it will perpetuate obsolete systems, reduce needed local incentives and self-sufficiency as well as open the federal coffers to an endless stream of expenses for which the corresponding benefit to the taxpayers is highly suspect.

It is a classic example of how millions of taxpayers dollars can be wasted in unwise legislation based on the preposterous theory that throwing money at a problem will somehow make it go away.

IF ENACTED, this legislation would mean that an estimated 1,000 local transit systems would look to the federal government for help. But under the allocation formula — which is based on population, and passenger and vehicular miles travelled — only a handful of cities, in fact, would receive over 40 per cent of the funds each year.

Besides this basic inequity, the greatest flaw of such a formula is that it has no relationship whatsoever to the efficiency of the operation of the systems involved. There are few safeguards protecting the already over strained federal budget and virtually no assurances that the funds made available will encourage more efficient and improved operation of the systems being aided.

In no time at all, the federal government would be in a billion dollar, budget-busting, no-strings-attached subsidy business.

MOREOVER, the problems plaguing mass transit systems are primarily local in origin. The decreasing ridership and increased costs which have plunged most of the nation's mass transit systems into the red are the consequences of poor planning at the local level. If a mass transit system is located in an area where the local government chooses to provide incentives to use other modes of transportation by its land use policies, the pricing and supply of parking facilities and its traffic regulations, that system has only a minimal chance to survive without subsidies.

To call in the Secretary of Transportation and to involve him in the strictly local administrative decisions on such transporation policies— as this legislation provides — is absolutely unnecessary and saddles him with a responsibility that belongs at the local level. It would be one sure-fire way to increase red tape and Federal bureaucracy, but it would be no way to run a mass transit system.

I FAIL to see where, if the federal government began footing the bill for loosing mass transit systems, the basic ills plaguing them would miraculously disappear. Without any incentives for improvement but with someone else paying the costs, why should local communities face up to their mobility problems if Uncle Sam can be taken for a mass transit ride?

I also question whether money should be provided to operate mass transit systems if consumer preferences have not already created enough demand to sustain these services profitably.

During the hearings on this legislation earlier this year, even those witnesses advocating mass transit subsidies had to admit that the voters of their respective states had recently defeated referenda which would have aided mass transit systems.

Why, then, should federal taxpayers be asked to pay for that which the local taxpayers rejected? Why should the taxpayers of the Sixth District pay for the transportation of the people of New York or Boston?

GOP party chief's job hampered by scandals

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bush thought his main job as Republican national chairman would be to convert President Nixon's 1972 landslide victory into a "New Republican Majority." Then came Watergate.

It led the 48-year-old Texan to become a party spokesman seeking to separate the Republicans from the scandal enveloping their own administration.

"There has been a need to put the party role into perspective," the former ambassador to the United Nations explained in an interview. "There has been a need to get that message across, the fact that the national committee is not responsible, that the party is not involved."

Though Bush renewed the now-familiar Republican litany that Watergate won't hurt the GOP at the polls, he conceded he has become more cautious about party prospects in the 1974 congressional elections.

He said the loss next month of Republican-held governorships in New Jersey and Virginia, which some party leaders see as a growing possibility, "wouldn't look good at all" but added that a string of GOP successes in recent local elections is proof "this isn't going to wipe out the Republican party."

Discussing his eight months on the job at GOP headquarters on Capitol Hill, Bush also said:

—"There's been a recovery" in the flow of contributions, and the committee will be able to meet its $5.5-million budget, about three times as much as the Democrats, without further staff cuts or borrowing.

—The controversy surrounding Vice President Spiro T. Agnew cannot help the GOP but, as for the effect on elections, "I don't think one could possibly measure that at this point." Bush said Agnew's 1976 presidential prospects certainly have not been enhanced, but he added that vindication could change that.

—The launching of 1976 presidential soundings by Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Ronald Reagan, Sen. Charles H. Percy and John Connally is encouraging. "We seem to have a wealth of qualified talent," he said. "I can't help but look at the Democrats and think, in this particular area, we're in pretty good shape compared to them."

—In line with an effort to make the national committee "a little more election-oriented," he stepped up party programs to provide assistance to candidates and potential candidates.

These include weekly campaign management schools, and at least three "New Majority Workshops" to stress ways of seeking support from those whose first GOP vote was cast in 1972 for President Nixon.

"These workshops will hopefully demonstrate to party leadership and candidates how to attract so-called New Majority voters, how to attract them to Republicans when you don't have a presidential race on," Bush said.

He said special effort will be made to increase GOP strength among minorities and among ethnic, groups.

Bush forecast close races in two gubernatorial elections next month.

In Virginia, Democrat-turned-Republican Mills E. Godwin is locked in a tight race with Lt. Gov. Henry Howell, running as an independent. In New Jersey, Rep. Charles Sandman, who unseated GOP Gov. William Cahill in the primary, is running against Democrat Brendan Byrne.

"I think they're both very important," Bush said. "But I don't see either of them as a test of Watergate."

He said if the GOP lost the governorships, both captured from the Democrats four years ago, "it wouldn't look good at all. We wouldn't like that.

"Of course," he said, "if we won the two, I would hope we would get tremendous acclaim, having pulled off the impossible in a year when others would have thought it would have been impossible to win anything."

In discussing the 1974 elections, Bush avoided any prediction that the GOP could win control of the House or Senate — which would take a net gain of 26 in the House and 7 in the Senate. He talked in terms of avoiding further losses.

"Maybe we're just euphoric," he said, "but we think we have a chance to turn around what is the normal off-year syndrome, namely that the party in power loses seats in the off year."

Bush noted that President Nixon has said he will campaign for Republican candidates in 1974, and the chairman said those who hope to succeed the chief executive should follow the example of Nixon's allout 1966 stumping for GOP congressional candidates.

Roof bolts needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fearing federal agencies are still not aware of the serious problems being caused by a critical shortage of roof bolts for coal mines, Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va. Tuesday interruped Senate debate on a strip mining law to try and gain a solution.

Forest Shade Grange seats new officers

NEW MARTINSBURG—Max Carson was installed as master and Miss Louise Ritter as lecturer at the Forest Shade Grange meeting here Tuesday night. The obligations of office were administered by County Deputy Richard Carson. Max Carson succeeds Winfred Morgan as the master, and Miss Ritter succeeds Mrs. Florence Bethards.

A letter from James Cunningham, outlining the need for a Miami Trace District junior high school, was read by the county deputy, but no formal action was taken. A $2,035,000 bond issue to build the school will be submitted to the district voters Nov. 6. The bond issue would run for 22 years and be retired with a 2.15-mill average tax levy. Approximately $750,000 of the total bond issue is expected to go for maintenance and improvement of the existing elementary schools.

Mrs. Max Carson and Miss Cathy VanDyke were named as assistant matrons for the Forest Shade Junior Grange. Mrs. William Garringer is the matron.

The master announced that the Pomana Grange meeting will be held Thursday night in the Forest Shade Grange Hall here.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. William Garringer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanDyke, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Sollars and Miss Minnie Smith.

McNamara goes after Brown's job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Keith McNamara, a Columbus attorney and former six-term member of the Ohio House, today announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor.

McNamara, a Republican, wants the post being vacated by incumbent John W. Brown, who said Tuesday he will run for the GOP nomination for the U.S. Senate.

McNamara, at a news conference, said he thought the role of the lieutenant governor should be expanded.

"Historically, the post position has not been considered a major one and has not been challenging," he said.

The salary for the post jumps to $30,000 annually beginning next year and McNamara said he believes the duties should be increased.

He said the lieutenant governor could serve as a liaison between state and local governments, as well as between the state administration and the legislature.

Asked if he feels it is realistic for a Democratic governor to call upon a Republican lieutenant governor for liaison duties, McNamara, 44, said: "I see no reason why nonpartisan problems can't be worked on by both the governor and lieutenant governor regardless of their political affiliation."

Court decides company doctors can't be sued

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today ruled two doctors hired to staff a Ford Motor Co. clinic were fulltime employes and could not be sued for alleged malpractice in treating a worker.

David K. Proctor of Cleveland, said Drs. Edward F. Arscott and Constantine A. Papas aggravated a hand injury he suffered April 30, 1969 at Ford's Brookpark plant.

Proctor sued both Ford Motor Co. and the two doctors. The Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court dismissed both as defendants but the Court of Appeals allowed the doctors to be kept as defendants.

The Supreme Court said the doctors were employes as designated in the law that grants immunity from liability conferred on employers.

Price drop hits Fayette farmers

Fayette County farmers, especially those who raise livestock, have been hit hard in the pocketbook during the last couple of months.

Prices paid for cattle, hogs and sheep have been on a sharp decline since early August. At the same time the soybean market was on the skids from around $14 early in the summer to around $5.25 today.

In the last two months hog prices have dropped from $62.25 to $38-$39 at the Producers Livestock market here and the cattle market, which had the biggest slump, dropped from $58-$60 per cwt. to $44-$45.75 at the weekly sale Tuesday.

A total of 217 cattle went through the auction along with 495 hogs. Yearling steers and heifers were down at $44-$46.

Between 300 and 500 sheep and lambs are sold through the Saturday auctions Producers Stockyards every week; the lamb market last week was down to $34-$35.

THESE price adjustments, said Mike Wagner, Producers Livestock Association manager here, represent drops of 30 to 35 per cent in the two-month period.

He said that consumers who are concerned about this situation might relate it to themselves by imagining they had just paid $30,000 for a new home; if they had to sell it, they would find the price had dropped 30 per cent to $20,000.

To clarify the situation further, Wagner pointed out that 45 market-ready 1,000-pound steers would be worth $20,000 today and that, like the home buyer with few exceptions, most of that $20,000 represents borrowed money.

"Farming involves great risks," Wagner remended, "because of weather and price uncertainties, but farmers have to accept the ups and downs."

"CONSUMERS," he continued, "were very vocal about the high price of meat several months ago when farmers were receiving the highest prices paid for livestock. It's a fact that all food prices have gone up considerably and now account for a larger portion of the consumer budget. However, at the same time food is becoming more costly; those same consumers are paying dearly for the inflationary prices of all goods and services."

Wagner pointed out that "this brings up an important point that is often overlooked by the consumer. During an inflationary period when prices on all goods and services go up, they stay up. But, in contrast, when farm prices go up, they come down."

He commented that farmers are now selling their livestock for 30 per cent less than they did last summer.

Defending champs invade MT Friday

Panthers face Tigers in Homecoming game

By DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Before last Friday night's contest with the Hillsboro Indians the Miami Trace football coaching staff had some doubts to whether their football team had the strength on the bench to capture a South Central Ohio League title. But after last week's performance by the subs for the injury-riddled Panthers, little doubt should remain that the Panthers won't be strong contenders for the coveted gold football.

Miami Trace was facing the opening of league competition with three starters out of the lineup with injuries. Tri-captain Doug Ford was out due to a slight concussion, Doug Baker was out with muscle spasms in his back and Tom Pfaff was out resting a back bruise.

BUT AFTER the game was over last Friday, thoughts of gold must have been going through head coach Fred Zechman's mind.

Jeff Sagar, who filled in for the injured Ford, gained 114-yards in 16 carries and scored one touchdown. Jeff Smithson did a fine job filling in for Pfaff and Dusty Ruth held up the halfback spot for Baker.

This week though, Ford will be back along with Baker. Pfaff was still doubtful as of Tuesday, but he still might see action in Friday night's clash with defending SCOL champion Circleville.

With the returning of Ford to the fullback slot, Sagar will be moved to the halfback position that he is accustomed to playing.

Even with the power of both Ford and Sagar in the line-up, the Panthers, will have their hands full against a quick defensive team from Circleville. The game is Miami Trace's annual Homecoming.

The Circleville defense is not big by any means but features deceptive ability. Led in the weight catagory by left tackle Scott Bowman at 205-pounds, the Tigers' defensive line decreases in size but increases in speed. Rounding out the front line for the Tigers should be, Keith Davis at right-tackle, Jim Cordal, weighing only 145-pounds, is stationed at middle guard and Dale Imler at one of the ends.

The rest of the defenders have position names like those from the college ranks. Rock Davis, who was injured in last week's loss to Wilmington, plays end, Reggie Radcliff plays left inside linebacker, Jim Payne is the right inside linebacker, Eddy Richter is the "Tiger man", Alan Underwood, is a five-yard halfback, Doug Palm plays middle safety and Perry Hoskins is at strong safety.

The offense isn't as complicated as the defense, but there might be some changes made after last weeks disastrous fumble, plagued showing by the Circleville ball-handlers.

AS OF last week, Hoskins was handling the quarterbacking chores with Richter at tailback, Pat McNaughton at fullback, either Joe Smith or Rick Sampsill at wingback and Palm being placed at split-end.

The Tiger offensive unit again has speed like the defense, but still lacks the size of the Miami Trace team. Against Wilmington, Circleville gained only 77 yards rushing, but collected 151 yards passing with some of the passing yardage coming on an option play to Sampsill in which Sampsill passed to Palm for a touchdown.

Coach Larry Cook, in his second year at Circleville, was very upset after last week's loss to Wilmington with only 11 seconds remaining in the game, said, "mistakes have killed us this year, but we can be a fine team if we just eliminate these mental lapses."

Circleville, which has a record of 1-1 in SCOL competition and 2-3 overall, must prevent mental mistakes to keep from slipping into the loser's column any further.

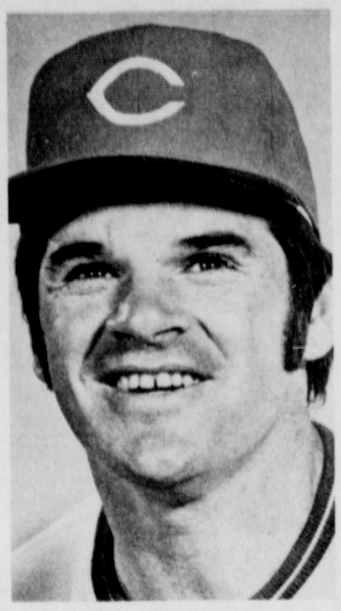
Mental mistakes against Miami Trace could prove to be the gold filling Zechman has been counting on in the early going of the SCOL race.

MT ticket talk

Some reserved seat tickets are available for Friday night's game between Miami Trace and Circleville, according to ticket manager Glenn Marchal.

Marchal said the tickets will be offered at the gate Friday night. He also said there will be pre-sale of general admission tickets for the Circleville, Wilmington and Washington C.H. games. Adult general admission tickets are priced at $1.50 and 50 cents for students.

All elementary schools in the county have student pre-sale tickets available in the principals' offices.



PETE ROSE

Showdown today!

Rose's home run squares playoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — They threw an apple, a tennis ball and an egg at Pete Rose, but the only flying object he cared about was a baseball.

Rose hit it over the fence for a home run in the 12th inning to give the Cincinnati Reds a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets and tie the National League playoffs at two games apiece.

"I wasn't thinking about a home run, I must confess, but I wanted to hit that ball all the way to the airport," said Rose, who apparently felt he struck a blow back at the Mets' fans for their animosity toward him.

Rose had been the object of scorn here, ever since his fight with New York shortstop Bud Harrelson, a scuffle that triggered a full-scale melee during Monday's bizarre game.

"Sure, I heard them booing at me every time I showed my face," said Rose. "They kept throwing things at me, too. But that only makes me play harder."

Cast as the villian, Rose heard the boos once more as he stepped to the plate in the top of the 12th inning to face New York reliever Harry Parker.

Someone threw an apple at Rose, but he brushed it aside with his bat, looking darkly toward the stands. Then came the tennis ball and the egg.

It was reminiscent of Monday's affair, when Rose was showered by pop bottles, beer cans, batteries and a whiskey bottle in left field. The garbage shower took place after the Rose-Harrelson fight and the resulting battle royal.

The fans remembered Monday's infamous "Rose-bud Incident" and continually hissed the Cincinnati left fielder before he pumped Parker's 2-2 fastball out of sight over the right field fence.

Then the 50,786 fans were dramatically silent, for the most part, as Rose circled the bases with his right hand held high in a clenched-fist gesture of victory.

"I wasn't trying to rub it into the fans, even though I heard them booing me," said Rose. "I was just happy. I would have given a week's pay to have gone four-for-four today and to have scored four runs.'

He didn't have a bad day, as it was. Rose singled twice and walked before smashing his second homer of this five-game series.

A's capture 2-1 lead in playoff

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris, the 155-pounder dubbed "Baby Ruth" after home runs in two straight games, predicts the A's will win their way into the World Series again today.

"I don't care who's pitching, we'll win," declared the explosive little infielder whose 11th-inning leadoff home run beat Baltimore 2-1 Tuesday and gave Oakland a 2-1 edge in the American League playoffs.

The defending world champions will represent the American League a second straight year if they beat the Orioles' ace right-hander, Jim Palmer, today. He shut them out 6-0 in the opener of the best-of-five playoff series.

Oakland left-hander Vida Blue didn't last through the first inning in that one but he'll be back facing the Orioles again.

"We have a well-rested Blue who has shown he can pitch well against anybody," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams. "Certainly we have a chance against Palmer."

Campaneris hit only four home runs during the regular season but he led off the second game of the championship series with a homer and ended the third game with one. That provided the pitching victory to southpaw Ken Holtzman, who threw a three-hitter.

Campaneris, who was suspended the final three games of last year's playoffs when he threw his bat at a rival pitcher, said he hit a slider, low and inside, for his game-winning homer.

"I wanted to throw it further inside," commented a disappointed Mike Cuellar who had allowed only three hits before Campy's homer.

The A's victory put all the pressure on Baltimore and Palmer.

"We have our backs to the wall," admitted the hurler who won 22 games and lost nine on the season. "If I don't pitch well and we lose, we're eliminated. I'll try to pitch the same way I did in Baltimore."

Earl Williams got Baltimore off to a 1-0 lead in the second inning when he slammed a Holtzman fast ball over the left field fence, the Orioles' first homer of the series.

Holtzman then retired 14 batters in order before walking Tommy Davis in the seventh.

Oakland didn't score until the eighth, when Manager Williams' strategy paid off.

He sent Jesus Alou up to hit for catcher Ray Fosse and Alou golfed a blooper into left field for a single. Fleet Allan Lewis went in to run for Alou.

Williams had selected Angel Mangual originally as the pinch hitter for second baseman Dick Green but, with a bunt the obvious play, he switched and used Mike Andrews.

The bunt went to Cuellar, who was off balance when he fielded it. So he threw to first— the sacrifice working. Campaneris struck out but Joe Rudi banged a broken-bat single off his fists to score Lewis from second.

Grid prophet picks Sooners over Texas

NEW YORK (AP) — Now, football fans, you're going to learn how a fearless forecaster operates.

The text for the lesson is Saturday's upcoming battle between Oklahoma and Texas in Dallas. This is one of the sport's classic confrontations year in and year out.

"We get ready, they get ready and we have a great game," says Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. "That's what college football is all about. It's the greatest excitement and atmosphere I've ever been associated with."

First, you listen to Switzer point out that "we've won the last two years and that's the first time in a long time that's happened to them." Fifteen years, to be exact, since Oklahoma roped Texas six times in a row from 1952-57.

Next, you listen to Switzer run down the Texas team:

"They're the same type of football team they've always been. They've been well coached and have a strong defensive team. You never knock them down.

"They have a great back in Roosevelt Leaks and a quarterback (Marty Akins) they feel will be a good one. They have good receivers, and prior to the season they felt their offensive line would be improved.

"They have an excellent kicking game. Their punter hangs the ball so high people get nervous waiting for it to come down."

Finally, Switzer advises folks wanting to preview the two teams to "get last year's papers and columns and just put that down."

Okay, Barry. Oklahoma won last year 27-0. Accordingly, the pick for this year...Oklahoma 27-0.

Last week's count was 44 right, 19 wrong and two ties for .698. For the season, it's 196-718—.734.

Nebraska at Missouri: These Big Eight rivals have been playing since 1892 and Nebraska's 62-0 romp last year was the series' biggest rout. Missouri wants revenge...but gets a loss instead. Nebraska 24-13.

Ohio State at Wisconsin: Two weeks ago, Wisconsin was called the best 0-3 team in the country. Now, they're the best 1-3 team. And with Ohio State and Michigan back-to-back the Badgers may soon be the best 1-5 team. The polls say Ohio State's the best team of all. Ohio State 28-14.

Lakers rip Chicago Bulls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How much will the Los Angeles Lakers miss Wilt Chamberlain?

Hardly at all, if their season-opening game can be used as a barometer.

The Lakers, playing without the 7-foot-1⅛ giant who jumped the National Basketball Association club recently and signed as player-coach with the San Diego Conquistadors of the American Basketball Association, began their NBA Association campaign with a 117-97 victory over the Chicago Bulls Tuesday night.

In other NBA openers, defending champion New York squeaked past Detroit 101-100, Atlanta trounced Capital 128-114, Buffalo edged Houston 107-105 in overtime, and Golden State's game at Cleveland was postponed because of a wet floor.

Delaware cushions AP grid poll lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Delaware, surging toward an unprecedented third consecutive national college division football championship, has solidifed its hold on first place in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Blue Hens, a 56-18 victor over Baldwin-Wallace last weekend, received 39 first-place votes and a total of 828 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Delware, which has an 18-game winning streak dating back to 1971, ran its season record to 5-0-0.

Tennessee State, 4-0-0, moved from seventh place to second with a 19-13 victory over Grambling, collecting one firstplace ballot and 645 points. Idle Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, 3-0-0, was third with 442 points while Hawaii, a 16-9 winner over Los Angeles State, was fourth with 424 points.

Boise State, 4-0-0, moved from eighth to fifth place after defeating Weber State 34-7 while Grambling, 4-1-0, dropped from second to sixth and garnered 367 points.

Louisiana Tech, 4-1-0, was seventh after downing Northern Arizona 37-7, but South Dakota, 4-1-0, plummeted from third to eighth after being upset 31-19 by Montana.

Eastern Michigan, 4-1-0, was fourth last week but slid to ninth after losing 24-21 to Western Illinois and North Dakota State, 5-1-0, was 10th following a 21-0 romp over Northern Iowa. Western Kentucky, 4-0-0, moved from 13th to 11th on the strength of a 45-7 triumph over Western Carolina. Carson-Newman, 4-0-0, beat Catawba 17-7 but slipped from 10th to 12th.

Wittenberg, 4-0-0, moved into the rankings at 13th place by crushing Ohio Wesleyan 41-7. North Dakota, 3-2-0, moved up a notch from last place to 14th with a 43-7 shellacking of Morningside and Jacksonville State, 3-1-0, skidded from 11th to 15th place after dropping a 21-20 decision to Livingston.

Battle-scarred Bengals brace for unbeaten Steelers Sunday

CINCINNATI — The battle-scarred Cincinnati Bengals will host the awesome and undefeated Pittsburgh Steelers at 1 p.m., Sunday at Riverfront Stadium in a National Football League game.

The Bengals, who are now without the services of five key offensive players, will be trying to upset the Steelers who have four consecutive victories and stand high atop the American Football Conference' Central Division which they won in 1972. The Bengals are 2-2 and two full games behind the Steelers in the AFC Central.

CINCINNATI suffered the loss of a pair of wide receivers for an indefinite period last Sunday. Charlie Joiner, back in action for the first time since the final pre-season game, broke his left collarbone after catching a pass for 26 yards on the first play of the game against Cleveland. Myers suffered a pulled hamstring muscle.

Add these injuries to the loss of running back Doug Dressler, who recently underwent knee surgery; tackle Stan Walters, hospitalized with hepatitis, and quarterback Virg Carter, lost in the final pre-season game when he sustained a broken collarbone, and the Bengals' injury situation becomes crippling.

Even a team of healthy Bengals would be definite underdogs against Coach Chuck Noll' onrushing Steelers who have demolished all their 1973 opponents.

If comparative scores mean anything you can use the Cleveland final as a yardstick. The Bengals lost to the Browns 17-10 last Sunday while Pittsburgh holds an easy 33-6 victory over Cleveland.

"The Steelers are one of the very best football teams in the National Football League," says Paul Brown, Bengals' head coach and general manager. "They are picked by many to be in the Super Bowl and with their personnel and coaching it could well work out that way.

"They have all the ingredients necessary for great football teams," Brown emphasized. "A fine quarterback, outstanding runners, solid blocking and one of the best defensive units in the business. There's not much missing, if anything."

The Steelers are led by quarterback Terry Bradshaw, one of the top young passers in football who also is an outstanding runner. Bradshaw doesn't lack for receivers. His top ones are Frank Lewis, Barry Pearson, Ron Shanklin and John McMakin.

Pittsburgh has a grinding running attack headed by the 1972 rookie-of-the-year Franco Harris and veteran Frenchy Fuqua. Other top Steeler runners are Preston Pearson and Steve Davis.

The mammoth Pittsburgh defense is headed by a veteran front four of ends L.C. Greenwood and Dwight White and tackles Joe Greene, an all-pro, and Ernie Holmes.

SPEEDY Essex Johnson continues to be the Bengals' big gun offensively, leading the club in rushing and pass receptions.

The "Essex Express" has gained 394 yards on 59 carries for a glittering 6.7 average. Johhson also has caught 14 passes for 217 yeard and an average of 18.2. The former Grambling star has rushed for two touchdowns and has chalked up two more on pass receptions.

Rookie running back Boobie Clark is second in rushing and pass receptions. Clark, a 12th round draft choice from Bethune-Cookman, has picked up 243 yards on 65 rushing attempts for 3.7 average. He also has caught 13 passes for 105 yards, an average of 8.1.

Quarterback Ken Anderson has connected on 54 of 102 passes for 771 yards and a completion average of 52.9. He has thrown four touchdown passes and two interceptions.

The Bengals and Steelers have met six times since the series began in 1970 and Pittsburgh holds a 4-2 edge. The Bengals handed the Steelers one of their three defeats in 1972 when they beat them 15-10 on five Horst Muhlmann field goals at Riverfront Stadium.

The two teams will meet twice in the next three weeks, matching up again in Pittsburgh on October 28. In between the two games with the Steelers, the Bengals will play the Kansas City Chiefs at Riverfront on October 21.

MT's Players of Week

A sophomore, junior and senior have been selected as Miami Trace's Players of the Week for their performances in the Panthers' 28-0 victory over winless Hillsboro last Friday night.

Tied for the offensive honors were junior Jeff Sagar and senior Jeff Long. Coming out on top in the defensive catagory was sophomore Greg Cobb. All three players were selected by the Miami Trace coaching staff in The Record-Herald's fifth weekly poll.

SAGAR, a 165-pound fullback, hit the Hillsboro defense for a total of 114 yards. The powerful junior had a run of 48 yards to set up an important touchdown for the Panthers. Also, when Sagar wasn't carrying the ball, his fakes were good enough to cause the Hillsboro linemen to be out of position for the other Miami Trace runners to pick up yardage.

Long, a 200-pound senior offensive tackle, was also named offensive player of the week. For the second straight week Long has shown strength, quickness, and all around awareness of his blocking assignments. The quick-hitting tackle opened gaping holes in the Hillsboro line for the Panther backs.

On the defensive side for Miami Trace, Cobb, a 190-pound sophomore, received 33 defensive points for his excellent performance on the line. Cobb knocked down two passes, sacked the opposing quarterback three times and practically stole the ball from a Hillsboro runner when he recovered a fumble before the ball hit the ground, and set up a touchdown for the Panthers.

THE TEAM'S "big lick" awards went to quarterback Tom Riley, on offense, and to Jim Glass for a tremendous hit on a punt, for the defense.

Head coach Fred Zechman also reported that tri-captain John Woodrow followed at a close second in the defensive honors for Player of the Week. Woodrow, like Cobb, was a continuous menace to the Hillsboro quarterback.

The Panthers pushed their record to 3-2 in overall games and 1-0 in league competition by defeating Hillsboro last Friday, but the Panthers can't relax a moment with defending league champions Circleville invading Miami Trace Field at 8 p.m. Friday.

THURSDAY, OCT. 11

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Early hours hold some risk. Be careful in travel, handling equipment, managing finances. Better influences in the p.m. favor career plans, educational interests.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Follow-up on a unique idea could be highly successful — if you are aware that present conditions are without precedent. It will be up to you to accomodate.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Business matters should go well but don't regard all a.m. decisions as final. Plans may have to be modified somewhat later in the day.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Some challenges indicated in your work area. To handle, study the psychological factors, your own motivations, those of others.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

The methods and tactics you usually employ may be ineffective now, but you can devise some clever expedients — perhaps even more result-getting in the long run.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Watch your competition carefully. Indications are that some tricky maneuvers may be employed. Alert, however, you can sport them.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Caution urged in business negotiations. You may think you have the upper hand and try a daring power play. Don't! It won't work.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Feel your way carefully now. There may be deterrents to your progress of which you are unaware. Be especially watchful where details are concerned.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Certain situations may be more complex than you realize. Avoid any involvement that could damage your prestige.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Morning hours favor the exchange of ideas, programming for future activities, business conferences generally. Accent is on the social after 3 p.m.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Keep both feet on the ground now. There's a tendency to confuse the imaginatively creative with the offbeat and impractical.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Be prepared for surprises — especially in social circles. Certain odd persons or bizarre doings may raise your eyebrows. But you WILL be amused.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect, creative ability, an outstanding intuition, fairmindedness and unusual sympathy for the underprivileged. You are gregarious, too, but tend to be unyielding at times, thus alienating potential firends and aides. You are reserved and dignified, but always ready to lend a helping hand.

Opening lead - king of diamonds.

There is a right way of playing a hand, and a wrong way. Sometimes the right way is simple, yet easy to overlook.

Consider this deal where West led a diamond. Declarer ruffed and played a heart to the king. Then he led a heart back, finessing the jack and losing to the queen. He lost a spade finesse later on and went down one.

South was indeed unlucky to lose two finesses, but even so the fact remains that he should have made the slam. He missed his cue at trick three when he played the low trump from dummy and Esst procued the ten.

South should have been willing to assume that East had played the ten from an original holding of either Q-10-x, 10-x or possibly 10-x-x. It was inconceivable that East would play the ten from a holding of Q-10-x-x.

It could therefore be reasoned that the trumps were bound to be divided 3-2 and that the location of the queen was a matter of only academic interest.

Declarer should have gone up with the ace at trick three with the 100 per cent assurance that this play would bring home the contract.

In the actual hand, the queen would not have fallen on the ace but South would eventually have discarded the Q-J-9-5 of spades from dummy on his clubs.

His only loser would have been a trump trick and he would have made the slam without running the risk of a spade finesse.

What Causes Swollen Feet

My feet become swollen at the end of the day. When I rest and wake up in the morning, the swelling is gone. I worry that I may have kidney trouble. Is there a way to study the cause of such swelling?

Miss D. H., W. Va.

Dear Miss D. H.:

Swelling of the feet that occurs after long period of standing and disappears with rest, must be studied to determine its exact cause.

The chances are great that chronic kidney disease, only one of the causes for swelling of the feet, is not necessarily the reason in your case.

Swelling, or edema, simply means that there is some interference with the proper circulation of blood. Some people develop swelling by standing on their feet for long periods of time. When they are at rest, with the feet elevated, the swelling disappears.

Now it is true that there are defects of the kidney, the heart, the lungs, and the circulatory system that can be responsible for swelling.

Many tests are available by which the circulation can be studied. Kidney function tests, with special dyes, can readily establish the proper functioning of the kidneys. Even though the chances are great that you do not have any reason for concern you will benefit from the knowledge that here is no reason for concern about the sweeling you describe.

Home-based governor Rotary Club speaker

A series of humorous stories recounting his experiences during visits with other clubs throughout Ohio were shared by District Governor Robert Haigler with members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club at the noon luncheon Tuesday in the Country Club.

Haigler's talk was largely centered around the many experiences he has had since being named district governor, but he finished with a serious note about inflation.

Each year, the district governor pays a visit to the Rotary clubs in the area. The visit here was the last official stop on Haigler's tour of the Rotary clubs in District 667. There are 46 clubs in District 667, which encompasses most of the southwestern portion of the state.

Haigler, a member of the Washington C.H. club, took office as district governor in July.

THE THEME of Haigler's tenure as district governor is "Enjoy Rotary More In '74", and he made Washington C.H. Rotarians believers with the tenor of his talk.

An extensive traveler, Haigler talked about inflation on a serious note and used the South American country of Uruguay as an example. He said the value of money in that country has dropped 60 per cent in one year. Haigler said that one-third of the country's population is employed by the government, another one-third is drawing government pensions, and the final third of the population can't produce enough to keep things on an even keel.

He dramatized the inflation portion of his talk with an eight-penny nail he pulled from his pocket and explained that 50 years the nails were only 2 cents a pound, but now cost 25 cents a pound.

DURING the business meeting, conducted by Phil Grover, Steve Yambor, assistant superintendent of Fayette County schools, was accepted as a new member. Yambor was sponsored for membership by Ron Ratliff. Dr. William H. Limes introduced Haigler.

Student guests were David Foster, of MTHS, and Herb Bonner, of WSHS. Mark Thellmann, of The Record-Herald, was a guest of Paul Crosby.

Visiting Rotarians were Dr. Walter Felson, of Greenfield, Merrill Kaufman, of Delaware, Darrell French, of Wilmington, Jerry Ardrey, of London, and Ottie Hockman, of Mount Sterling.

Haigler met with officers of the Washington C.H. club and committee chairman Tuesday morning to review reports submitted by committee chairman and to exchange ideas on how other clubs in the district are handling certain problems.

Other Arab nations support fight against Israel

Iraq enters Mideast war

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Iraqi military command announced today that its air and ground forces had joined the war against Israel and "were taking an active part" in the fighting on both fronts.

The Beirut newspaper An Nahar said 18,000 Iraqi troops with 100 tanks had arrived in Syria.

Five other Arab countries are reported to have sent token forces to the war.

In Washington, the U.S. Defense Department said today that the Soviet Union has begun using its biggest and best transport planes to deliver "very large tonnages" of military supplies to airports in Egypt and Syria.

Israel claimed its warplanes blasted Damascus airport and other strategic targets in the Syrian and Egyptian heartlands today. Iraq announced its air and ground forces have joined the war and Jordan called up its reserves in what could herald another escalation of the five-day-old struggle.

Unconfirmed press reports said a Moroccan brigade sent to Syria five months ago was taking part in the attack on Kunaitra, in the Golan Heights.

A small contingent of troops from Kuwait based on the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal since 1967 is taking part in the Sinai assault, the Kuwait government acknowledged.

Tunisia reportedly has sent 900 soldiers to Egypt. Algeria said it had sent some jet fighters that are in action on the Suez front, and reinforcements are on the way. And Sudan has said it was sending troops to help the Egyptians but didn't say how many.

An Nahar said it learned that Moscow had instructed its ambassadors in the Arab capitals to relay a message from Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev telling the Arab governments "do not leave Egypt and Syria alone in the battle with Israel. Help them with all the means you have. We are giving them all types of assistance."

The paper said diplomatic sources told it the Soviet government was supplying arms and ammunition "to ensure the entire war needs" of the Arab side. The paper also said Soviet experts were participating with Egyptian and Syrian forces "in defending the two countries."

Israeli warplanes attacked Egyptian air bases 27 miles north of Cairo today and hit at Egyptian and Syrian forces on the two battlefronts in the fourth Arab-Israeli war, the Israeli command reported. But there was no report of a resumption of the ground fighting as the war went into its fifth day.

The Israelis said their pilots reported "accurate hits" in raids on air bases at Khusna and Abu Hammad, west of Ismailia in the Nile Delta, and on a radar station on the Mediterranean coast 60 miles east of Alexandria.

Israeli spokesman said Israeli planes also flew missions in support of the ground forces facing the Syrians on the Golan Heights and the Egyptians on the east bank of the Suez Canal.

Syria claimed its air force brought down one Israeli Mirage jet in a dogfight over the Heights, and its antiaircraft gunners blew up an Israeli Skyhawk.

Storms lash Midsection; snow in West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A series of thunderstorms stretched over the nation's midsection with winter-like conditions to the west and summer to the east.

The thunderstorms from Kansas to Minnesota churned up high winds, hail, heavy rains and tornadoes. Temperatures were in the 60s and 70s eastward.

Rainfall reached almost three inches at Sioux Falls, S.D., before dawn, bringing the total to almost five inches, including Tuesday's downpour. Hailstones larger than grapes fell on Sioux Falls on Tuesday.

Snow and temperatures dipping into the 20s hit the central Rockies behind the storm front. Almost four inches of snow whitened Wyoming. Northern Colorado expected heavy snow today, and Denver had a light snowfall.

A tornado was sighted near Red Cloud, Neb., and Blooming Prairie, Minn., Tuesday. No injuries were reported. High winds at St. Cloud in central Minnesota caused some property damage.

Fog crept over Michigan, parts of the Ohio Valley and the Appalachians Tuesday and today. Some traffic accidents occurred in the fog, including one in Ohio involving eight cars. Some schools closed in Ohio Tuesday because of dangerous highway conditions due to fog.

Lightning struck at West Palm Beach, Fla., and Welcome, Minn., Tuesday. At West Palm Beach, lightning injured four boys, two seriously, and at Welcome, one man was knocked unconscious but was recovering.

Elsewhere, skies were generally cloudy to fair with a few thunderstorms scattered along the western Gulf Coast and in Florida.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 23 at Kalispell, Mont., to 81 at Corpus Christi, Tex.

SPIRO AGNEW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spirto T. Agnew resigned today, a weeping staff secretary announced. Agnew then pleaded guilty in federal court in Baltimore to one count of income tax evasion.

The word came from a secretary who said Agnew's staff had been informed of the decision at a midday meeting.

The vice president himself was in Baltimore at the federal courthouse, the purpose of his visit there unannounced.

Agnew has been under federal investigation in connection with alleged kickbacks in Maryland, where he served as governor before becoming vice president.

Mrs. Lisa Brown, the Agnew secretary, told The Associated Press of the resignation. She said she was speaking on behalf of J. Marsh Thomson, press secretary to Agnew.

She was in tears.

PEA SOUP IN WASHINGTON C.H.—You'd think it was London, but it wasn't. This picture, snapped at 9 a.m., shows the Courthouse tower shrouded in the second consecutive dense morning fog of the week. Many commuters, finding driving conditions rough, particularly on rural highways, reported for work a bit late.

Thick blanket of fog closes rural schools

A thick blanket of fog which has covered Fayette County for the past two days forced cancellation of classes in all of the elementary schools in the Miami Trace School District Wednesday.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster said the only schools open are Miami Trace High School and Eber Junior High School. He said the buses ran only the high school routes and that junior high students at Eber are also picked up on the high school route.

Preliminary plans called for a delay of 1½ hours in the elementary schools, but the dense fog did not lift and a decision was made to cancel classes in the elementary schools.

THE HEAVY FOG created many traffic problems and accidents investigated by the Fayette County Sheriff's and Police Departments.

A stop sign hidden by fog led to an accident at 8 a.m. in the Mt. Olive and Palmer Road area.

Larry D. Sholler, 16, of 500 Brentwood Dr., was traveling north on Mt. Olive Road when a stop sign loomed unexpectedly in front of him. Sholler hit the brakes and skidded 80 feet, hitting a farmer's fence and coming to rest in a ditch.

Sholler's passenger, Jay A. Crummy, 15, of 159 Holly Dr., received a minor injury.

Sholler's car was moderately damaged.

At 6:15 a.m. Wednesday, a car hit a guardrail at the junction of Ohio 753 and U.S. 35, then traveled 141 feet until it came to rest in a ditch.

The driver, James W. Fultz Jr., 27, of Greenfield, was uninjured, but moderate damage was done to his car and light damage to the guardrail.

"Assured clear distance" was applied in a different sort of accident, Tuesday at 10:34 p.m. in the Landmark Parking lot.

Kathryn E. Joseph, 24, of 234 North Bend, collided with a parked car owned by Ronald W. Hall, of 26 Tower Mobile Park, while backing out of her parking space.

Moderate damage was done to the Hall Auto.

A vehicle "cut off" a motorcycle driven by Charles E. Bryan, 19, of 632 East Market St., Tuesday at 1:40 p.m. as he was preparing to turn left onto Columbus Avenue off of Court Street.

Hall avoided the collision by turning right onto Washington Avenue but went off the pavement and lightly damaged his cycle.

Judge admits making error in IBM case

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A federal judge has admitted he made "substantial error" in assessing damages of $352.5 million in an antitrust suit against International Business Machines Corporation by the Telex Corporation.

U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen made the admission Tuesday in granting an IBM motion seeking amendment of the judgment or a new trial on the issue of damages.

He set Oct. 16 as the date for a hearing to determine which alternative will be taken.

"I have concluded that my computation of antitrust damages against IBM involved substantial error," the judge said.

Find boy dead on board bus

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — An autopsy was scheduled today to determine the reason for the death of a 12-year-old Port Clinton boy, whose body was found last night in the restroom of a Greyhound bus when it stopped at Vanlue.

Authorities said the boy, Chris Reedmarer, boarded the bus at Toledo and was enroute to Buckeye Boys Ranch at Grove City, near Columbus.

Court hears pants fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Ohio men who claim their constitutional rights were violated when police took their pants for evidence will have their appeal reviewed by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high court agreed Tuesday to hear the government's challenge of a U.S. Circuit Court decision that said the officers erred by not obtaining a search warrant.

Eugene H. Edwards and William T. Livesay were arrested following a May 1970 break-in at the Lebanon, Ohio, post office. The following day, police bought new pants and asked for the ones the men were wearing as evidence.

The prosecution, at the trial, sought to introduce evidence that paint traces found on the pants matched paint from the post office windows.

Defending the officers, the prosecution said the seizure "did not subject respondents to any personal humiliation as would the seizure of trousers immediately following arrest on a public street."

Nixon confers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon conferred with congressional leaders today and won unanimous support for his administration's efforts to halt the Middle East war.

Soviet attitude worries Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is uneasy about a lack of Soviet restraint in the new Middle East war, but U.S. officials are not yet willing to publicly charge Moscow with irresponsibility.

The concern over Soviet attitudes is limited at this time to what the Russians are saying. The officials say there is no indication now that Moscow intends to get involved directly or will supply large new shipments of arms to the Arabs.

The officials are cautious in their judgment of the Soviet role for two reasons: they don't want to go on the record with a firm assessment that might quickly be proved wrong, and they don't want to get into a shouting match with Moscow.

So far, the officials acknowledge, this has been a relatively one-sided situation. The Soviets have charged Israel with aggression, and their United Nations ambassador, Jacob Malik, said Tuesday night that Israeli leaders are "international criminals."

U. N. gives up on peace search

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council adjourned its debate on the Arab-Israeli war indefinitely Tuesday night because there was no prospect of agreement on a cease-fire resolution.

The Soviet Union boycotted the session for half an hour while Israel was blaming Moscow and the Arabs for the fighting.

Diplomats predicted the council would take up no cease-fire resolution until it became clear which side was likely to win the war.

One European diplomat predicted that if Israel appears to be gaining on the battlefield and threatening new Arab territory, nonaligned nations will sponsor a resolution calling for a "cease-fire and nothing more."

He added that if the Arabs seem to be advancing successfully on Israel, "there would be growing pressure on the United States to save Israel and that would be a dangerous situation."

At the Tuesday night council meeting, Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik broke in on the Israeli speech to say he would not hear "excuses from the representative of murderers and international gangsters."

Hundreds of diplomats and U.N. workers applauded enthusiastically as Malik left the chamber.

No other country spoke on behalf of Israel.

Egypt said during the meeting that there had been an air raid on Cairo and that the Egyptians captured four pilots "who attacked women and children and men in the streets." Israel later denied making such an attack, and foreign newsmen in the Egyptian capital reported two air raid alarms but no evidence of any planes over the main part of the city.

The United States made a brief expression of condolences to all nations whose citizens were "innocent victims" of the warfare but did not mention its earlier proposal for a return to the battle lines that Egypt and Syria crossed on Saturday when the fighting began.

China was silent.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed H. El-Zayyat told the council the United States was reported sending 30 more Phantom Jets to Israel.

The jets, he said, "are the same as the ones that raided Cairo today." He added that U.S. citizens were reported volunteering to join the Israeli air force.

Syria's representative, Mohamed Zakaria Ismael, relayed reports of deaths and injuries to U.N. personnel and others in the Israeli bombing of Damascus on Tuesday.

Ismael said the bombs fell on the Soviet cultural center in Damascus and a residential district.

Malik called the bombing "a barbaric, gangster act" and said he had press reports that the embassies of 10 nations were destroyed and 30 Soviet citizens were killed.

Golan Heights devastation marks furious 3-day battle

By ARTHUR MAX
Associated Press Writer

WITH ISRAELI TROOPS IN OCCUPIED SYRIA (AP) — Charred Syrian tanks were strewn over the field as Israeli armor rumbled by. Israeli soldiers looked tired and grim coming back from battle.

This was the scene Tuesday near the front line in the occupied Golan Heights, where Syrian and Israeli tanks, artillery and aircraft have fought furiously for three days over a few miles of rocky soil.

The area, about two miles from the 1967 cease-fire line in the southern sector of the Golan, was reached by this newsman—apparently one of the first outsiders to arrive deep in the battle zone.

A dozen Russian-made Syrian tanks were scattered over one field only three miles from the scene of further tank duels. No disabled Israeli tanks were visible.

Asked where the damaged Israeli tanks were, a military policeman replied: "There's one on the other side of the field— that's it."

Israel says it has pushed back invading Syrian forces to the cease-fire line, except in a few areas where the Syrians maintain a weakening grasp on a few hundred yards. The evidence seemed to support the claim.

The Israelis admit Syrian tanks penetrated five miles into Israeli-held land in the first surprise assault. Syria claims to have recaptured the mountain plateau, which it lost in the 1967 fighting.

The Syrian tanks were fireblackened and mutilated.

Where were the Syrian tank crews?

A corporal said: "They have been taken care of."

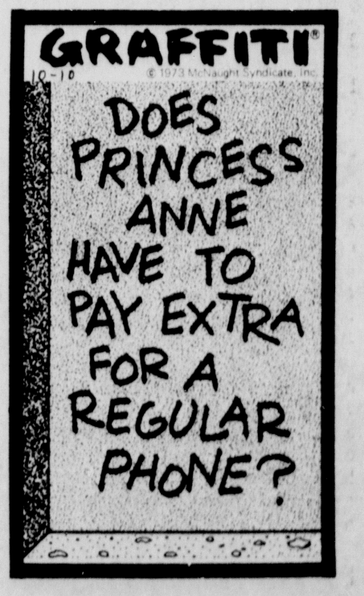
Artillery gunners in the rear told of advancing two or three miles in the last day to provide support fire for armor on the front.

"We follow the line," one gunner said. "whenever it moves, we move. Just the fact that I am here instead of two miles back where I was yesterday is a sign that we are advancing in the line," said the gunner, a physicist in civilian life.

Soldiers in the forward position looked tired and grim. "They are having a rough time of it over there," one trooper said, indicating the direction of the current battle.

The soldiers admitted the Syrians were putting up a stiff fight. Several who fought in the Golan during the 1967 war said this one was much tougher.

"They are not running this time," one man said.



Big football weekend coming up

Homecomings Friday night

It's going to be a busy weekend for students at both Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

The annual Homecoming festivities will be observed by both Fayette County high schools Friday night with the dances scheduled on Saturday. Several other events, including a fish fry, will be added to spice the activities.

The WSHS Homecoming celebration will be staged Friday night when the top-ranked Washington C.H. Blue Lions play Wilmington in an important South Central Ohio League football game at Gardner Park Stadium.

DON GIBBS, counselor at WSHS, said the Homecoming activities will begin with a parade through downtown Washington C.H. to the stadium. The parade will begin at 7 p.m. on North Street in front of Washington Junior High School and proceed to Court Street. From Court Street the parade will turn left at Main Street and proceed to the stadium.

The WSHS marching band will be leading the parade. Others in the procession will be the cheerleaders and the Junior Naval ROTC unit. The Homecoming activities will start at 7:30 p.m. at the stadium with the coronation of Queen Dianne Sagar and the presentation of the game ball to the Blue Lion team captain.

Queen Dianne and her court of Teri Mount, senior, Johanna Upthegrove, junior, and Jeanne Whittridge, sophomore, will be introduced in pregame ceremonies as the band will form a heart.

Highlighting the pre-game activities will be the annual Washington Athletic Facilities Corp. (WAFCO) and football booster club fish fry which will be held starting at 4 p.m. in the field house area. Serving will be held until the kickoff and will be resumed for a short period of time.

AT MIAMI TRACE, Queen Connie Stayrook and her court will be reigning over pre- game ceremonies. Queen Connie and her court of Sue Conner, senior, Patsy Pratter, junior, Diane Burke, sophomore, and Darla Woodfork, freshman, will be introduced before the Panthers' SCOL football game against Circleville.

Judging of class floats will be included as part of the halftime entertainment. The MTHS band will be featured during halftime.

Some reserved seat tickets are available for the Miami Trace game, according to ticket manager Glen Marchal. The tickets will be sold at the gate.

Weather

Clear tonight but considerable heavy fog again later tonight. Low in the 50s. Mostly sunny Thursday with the highest in the upper 70s and lower 80s. Probability of rain near zero this afternoon and tonight and 20 per cent Thursday.

Lightning bolt injures 4 youths

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Four boys were injured when a lightning bolt struck a group of seventh-graders on a school field and knocked about 10 to the ground, police say.

Bobby May, 10, was in critical condition today at Doctors Hospital and Mike Ball, 11, was in poor condition at Kennedy Hospital after being hit Tuesday afternoon, hospital spokesmen said.

Two other students, Allen Adams, 13, and Phillip Harris, 12, were in satisfactory condition at Doctors.

"A big sheet of lightning which engulfed the whole area" hit the boys as their physical education class ran from a softball field to escape an approaching thunderstorm, teachers at Jefferson Davis Middle School said.

"The kids started to run, like in a panic," said Garth Doyle, a teacher. "I said, 'Hold it,' and then it hit.

"I didn't even see the flash. When I shook off the impact, I saw one of the kids—Adams— running and holding his head. He said, 'Coach, I've been hit.'

"About 10 others were lying on the ground. Two of them, Bobby and Mike, didn't get up."

Doyle said two other teachers gave the May and Ball boys mouth to mouth resuscitation until ambulances arrived at the field.

Hughes donations to Nixon studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's close friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo has confirmed receiving two secret $50,000 payments from billionaire Howard Hughes, according to Senate Watergate committee sources.

The sources said the committee wants to learn whether the $100,000 was linked to a federal antitrust ruling said in published reports to have permitted Hughes to expand his Las Vegas, Nev., interests.

One committee member said he would like Rebozo and the rarely seen Hughes called to testify in public.

In today's public session the committee was to hear Michael W. McMinoway, identified as a $1,000-a-month GOP spy whose reports from inside the campaign of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., were given the code name "Sedan Chair 2."

Tuesday, the committee heard from John Buckley, a former FBI agent, who said Nixon political operatives code-named him "Fat Jack" when he worked as a lunch-hour spy photographing internal documents in the campaign of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

Committee sources said Rebozo told staff investigators he received the $100,000 sometime in 1970 from Richard Danner, manager of a Hughes-owned Las Vegas hotel. Rebozo said he returned the money last spring, to Chester Davis, a Hughes lawyer, the sources said. They said Davis would be questioned privately later today.

Several other Hughes associates have been questioned, the sources said. Among them is Robert A. Maheu, a former Hughes executive, who has testified in a California lawsuit that Nixon asked Rebozo to receive the money, which Maheu said was intended as a campaign contribution.

Rebozo's bank records have been subpoenaed by the committee.

Israeli economy strained by war

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — One local bakery has 10,000 extra loaves of bread, but the Chamber of Commerce reports a shortage of matches. Markets have plenty of food but some shops are running low on radio batteries.

War has shattered shopping patterns in Israel. Ample supplies are on hand, but the government has imposed rationing of food, gasoline and other items.

Housewives besieged the supermarkets when the hostilities began on Saturday, cleaning off the shelves and smashing a few glass entrance doors in the rush. But the panic buying subsided almost immediately, and business and supplies now are back to normal.

Bakeries produced triple their normal output the first day of the war, but the housewives didn't stock up. The bakers were stuck with stale loaves.

Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir announced Tuesday that the bill for the war so far is $952 million, and economist David Krivine wrote in the Jerusalem Post: "The national budget for 1973 can be thrown into the wastepaper basket."

In the past, estimates were that Israel could not fight a long war because it lacked resources. Economists now say the government has ample foreign exchange holdings, its own fleet of cargo ships to carry imports and its own arms factories.

"Israel can fight a long war," Krivine wrote, but production of some items is bound to drop because so many workers have been called into the army. Export targets are not likely to be met. Construction work is already hampered because many Arab laborers from the West Bank of the Jordan and the Gaza Strip—both occupied in the 1967 war—are staying home.

Many businesses have slowed down because personnel are being called up for war. The Jerusalem Post said more than 80 per cent of its drivers and delivery men have been mobilized for military duty.

2 Marion escapees are sought

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Lawmen in north-central Ohio searched today for two inmates who cut their way through a heavy wire fence surrounding the Marion Correctional Institution and escaped early today.

Prison officials identified the two as Mark D. Hodges, 32, of Findlay, and Dennis Burns, 24, of Canton.

Hodges was sentenced to Marion for cutting with intent to wound and attempted murder. Burns had been convicted of first-degree murder.

Hodges gained notority in 1969 when he was acquitted of first-degree murder in the slaying of Karen Kern, the niece of Ohio AFL-CIO president Frank King.

He was later acquitted on a charge of shooting with intent to kill another girl and assault on a 13-year-old girl with intent to commit rape.

Today's escape was the first at the Marion prison since July when two men led law officers on a wild chase that resulted in the traffic death of a Marion County deputy and the kidnapping of two families.

Patches of dense fog over parts of Ohio this morning were expected to linger through early afternoon, then dissipate under sunny skies.

Generally clear conditions tonight will bring cooler temperatures, allowing fog to develop again by late tonight.

Temperatures just before daybreak ranged mostly in the 50s, with the coolest reading 49 degrees at Youngstown.

Highs today will be in the 70s, possibly reaching the 80s in southern sections.

A slow-moving cold front was expected to bring showers into Ohio by the weekend.

A chance of showers Friday through Sunday. Mild Friday, turning gradually cooler. Highs in the 70s Friday, lowering into the 60s by Sunday. Lows in the 50s and low 60s.

War in Mideast

But Israel said Tuesday night was "generally quiet" on both fronts.

Egypt and Syria said Tuesday that they had beaten back repeated Israeli attacks and were poised for new advances. An Israeli spokesman admitted Tuesday night that Israel's counteroffensive had stalled in both the Sinai Desert and the Golan Heights.

Cities in Israel, Egypt and Syria were blacked out after an Israeli raid Tuesday on Damascus and another Syrian city, but no air attacks on any cities Tuesday night were reported. Tel Aviv had a four-minute air alert at 4:30 a.m., but apparently it was a false alarm.

Egyptian officials at the United Nations claimed the Israeli air force also bombed Cairo Tuesday, but the Israelis denied this. There was no confirmation from the Egyptian capital.

U.S. military analysts told newsmen in Washington they believe the Israelis can drive the Egyptian and Syrian forces back behind the cease-fire lines they crossed last Saturday but only at "a very considerable cost." One official said the Arabs "are doing better this time than they have in the past."

The Pentagon said the amphibious assault ship Guadalcanal, with 2,000 Marines and 30 helicopters on board, was cruising in the eastern Mediterranean along with the aircraft carrier Independence and escort ships. The Guadalcanal could be used to rescue Americans endangered by the fighting.

GOP faces uphill struggle in 1974 senatorial races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican campaign strategists say they face an uphill battle to head off Senate losses in 1974 after Ohio Sen. William B. Saxbe announced his retirement and sources reported Kentucky Sen. Marlow W. Cook also will step down.

Democrats, meanwhile, said they have a good chance to capture both seats in 1974, as well as the Utah seat being surrendered by 74-year-old Republican Sen. Wallace F. Bennett.

They see a chance to hold their present 57-43 advantage and perhaps increase it in 1974.

Saxbe, who made his decision known Tuesday, was the fifth senator to announce he won't run again in 1974. In addition to Bennett, the others are Republican Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, and Democrats Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Alan Bible of Nevada.

Republicans suffered another blow last week when Iowa Gov. Robert Ray, rated their strongest likely candidate for the Hughes seat, announced he would not run for the Senate.

Interviews with both Republican and Democratic campaign officials produced general agreement on the current outlook. Of the 34 seats being contested in 1974, the Democrats now hold 19.

Besides Utah, Kentucky and Ohio, the GOP-held seats in which Democrats think they have the best chance in 1974 are those of Sen. Milton R. Young in North Dakota and Robert Dole in Kansas.

Besides Iowa and Nevada, Republicans consider Sen. Mike Gravel of Alaska vulnerable and feel they have a chance against Sens. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri, Birch E. Bayh of Indiana and Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut.

South Dakota Sen. George McGovern, the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee, is considered by both parties to be in a relatively strong position in his home state.

Senate passes strong strip mine measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tough strip mine regulation bill has passed the Senate and now goes to the House, where environmentalists say a weaker version is being considered in committee.

The Senate approved the bill 82 to 8 Tuesday after rejecting an industry-backed move to soften its reclamation requirements.

The industry amendment, offered by Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., was defeated 62 to 29.

The bill, which applies only to coal mines, requires mine operators to restore the land to its approximate original contour.

Allen's amendment would have permitted other configurations "compatible with the surrounding terrain" as long as they were found to control erosion effectively.

Sen. Henry A. Jackson, D-Wash., chief sponsor of the bill, said Allen's amendment would not have required the elimination of the highwall, the vertical cut made by strip miners.

Allen said the requirements in the bill "very conceivably would make surface mining all but impossible in many parts of the nation."

He read from a letter in which he said Tennessee Valley Authority officials told him the bill could double the cost of coal production.

Jackson said it would increase costs only 60 cents a ton.

Meanwhile, the environment and mines and mining subcommittees of the House adopted a provision in the House bill that opponents said also would permit strip miners to leave highwalls behind.

Rule Urbana schools paid cash illegally

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor's office says the Urbana City School District paid more than $58,000 to 16 retiring teachers and school employes under unauthorized merit pay schedules.

The retirement benefits should not have been paid because the pay schedules approved by the school board were contrary to state law, said Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

In one instance, the auditor said, seven retiring teachers got nearly $36,000 under schedules approved May 14, 1969.

The schedules applied unused sick leave, the auditor said, to the retirement benefits, and "payment based upon unused sick leave is subtrafuge and in contravention of" two sections of Ohio law.

Another pay schedule approved Dec. 21, 1970, under which eight retiring employes got $19,600, was unauthorized, the auditor said.

The auditor, in addition, said the board should not have paid benefits of $3,100 to a retiring school nurse and attendance officer.

The auditor, in a separate report, said the Knox County Joint Vocational School District spent more than $20,000 on telecommunications equipment with securing proper approval.

Mushrooms are recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 540,000 institutional cans of mushrooms produced by Tusco Mushroom Products, Inc., of Beach City, Ohio, are being recalled, the Food and Drug Administration has announced.

The FDA said Tuesday that laboratory analyses indicated some of the mushrooms had been underprocessed. The No. 10-sized cans normally are sold to food processors and institutions, not to consumers, the FDA said.

Tusco officials were quoted as saying the recalled mushrooms were packed under Tusco labels and 60 private labels, and distributed to users in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois.

About 60,000 cans remain on the market. The FDA said that although there was no evidence of toxin or ill effects, users were being advised not to eat the mushrooms and to return them to stores where purchased.

Grocery burns; firemen stranded

DEARFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Fire gutted a grocery store in downtown Dearfield overnight, while volunteer firemen stood by a block away, unable to find the keys to their fire truck.

The Portage County Sheriff's Department reported that someone apparently broke into the fire station and stole the keys. The department reported it suspects the same person may have started the fire.

Three volunteer departments were called to assist, but firemen said by then it was too late to save the building.

Stock list goes lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were lower today in profit taking as the market consolidated after tremendous gains in the last few weeks, analysts said.

They also said the Mideast crisis was helping to depress prices.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down 2.49 at 971.70. Declining Big Board issues had a more than 2-to-1 lead over gainers.

IBM was untraded awaiting news dissemination of its thirdquarter profits—$2.81 a share, compared with $2.21 for the same period a year ago. Indications were it would open in the $280 to $290 range. It closed Monday at 261 3/4, up 2 1/4.

Telex opened down 1 at 5 1/8 on the Big Board. IBM AND Telex were untraded Tuesday. The U.S. District Court judge who ordered IBM to pay Telex $352.5 million in antitrust penalties announced he had made substantial errors in his computation of the award and ordered consideration of the penalties.

On the American Stock Exchange, McCulloch Oil was the volume leader, up 1/8 at 5 1/2. The Amex market-value index was down .25 at 107.62.

The Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down .19 at 59.35.

Elvis ends marriage

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Singer Elvis Presley and his 26-year-old wife Priscilla have ended their marriage with a friendly kiss and a property settlement making her a millionaire.

Presley, 38, was granted his divorce Tuesday in Los Angeles County Superior Court. The couple, married six years, agreed on a modified property settlement involving $1.5 million.

In seeking the divorce, the singer cited irreconcilable differences because of pressure from constant traveling. The hearing was closed to the public.

The Presleys were married in Las Vegas, Nev., in May 1967 after a courtship that began in Germany. She was the daughter of an Army officer and he was the world's best known tank-driving corporal.

Under the settlement, Presley will pay $725,000 in cash outright and another $720,000 at $6,000 a month over a 10-year period.

She also will receive half the proceeds from the intended sale of their Beverly Hills home; five per cent of the outstanding stock in Elvis Presley Music Inc. and White Haven Music Inc.; $4,200 a month for her additional support for a year; and $4,200 a month support for their 5-year-old daughter Lisa.

Vehicle pileup claims 1 life

MEDINA, Ohio (AP(—One person was killed and 12 others were injured today when a dozen vehicles collided, some in flames, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

No identification was available immediately.

The patrol said the crash involved two semi-trailer trucks, one tanker truck loaded with nonflamable material, and nine cars. The mishap occurred on fog-shrouded I-71 between Ohio 18 and Ohio 57 south of the Ohio 18 intersection, the patrol said.

Two of the trucks erupted in flames but there was no explosion, the patrol said.

Richardson urges no House action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson urged the House Judiciary Committee today to reject an effort to force a congressional investigation of charges against Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Richardson said the federal grand jury now looking into the charges of bribery, extortion and tax evasion involving Agnew should be allowed to complete its investigation without any interruption by House action.

The attorney general made his position known in a letter to Rep. Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, which has before it a resolution calling on it to request all evidence against Agnew from the Justice Department.

Union trustees OK current bills

A payment of $5,537 on the bill for the Armco steel building extension to the Union Township building at the junction of the Lewis and Devalon roads was approved by the Board of Trustees at its meeting Tuesday night. The building, now nearing completion, will cost $12,925.

That payment was among the bills totaling $6,300 which were approved for payment. The others were for road patching material, fill dirt for the Sugar Creek Baptist Cemetery, U.S. 35-N, and Sugar Creek Methodist Cemetery, Palmer Rd., for stone, gasoline and labor.

The trustees also agreed to purchase a new tractor and mower and are preparing to advertise for bids.

The Board of Trustees scheduled a meeting for 8 p.m. Oct.18 with the Ohio Water Service Co. to discuss the possibility of extending water lines to the North Shore addition north of the city.

City Chest solicitation machinery now in gear

The framework for house-to-house solicitation for the Community Chest campaign in the Washington C.H. residential has been completed, the co-chairmen, Mrs. Paul Johnson and Miss Mary Frances Snider, announced Wednesday as plans for the start of the canvass precinct by prescinct were put in final form.

The campaign got under way Sept. 17 with the business and industrial groups. The goal this year is $27,000 (a reduction from the $34,000 which was not reached last year) to support the programs of 10 local organizations next year.

With the campaign ready to start, the ward chairmen announced the precinct chairmen, who have set up their own organization of solicitors for the canvass.

THE ORGANIZATION for the rural residential campaign is not quite complete, but will be within a day or two, Jim Dunn, Chamber of Commerce executive vice president and secretary of the Community Chest, said.

The First Ward chairman is Mrs. Dorothy Sanderson, 210 Ogle St.; Second Ward, Mrs. Ralph Tate, 57 Hawthorn Dr.; Third Ward, Mrs. Ralph Cook, 1229 High St.; and Mrs. John Stimpert, 10 Oxford Pl.

The precinct chairmen are:

First Ward - Precinct A, Sandy Fackler; B, Jean Yarger; C, Judy Stillings; D, Terry Ferguson; E, Myra Shaw; and F, Sharon Prater.

Second Ward - A, Mildred Wheat; C, Bonnie Hurley; D, Kathy Fountain; and E, Tippy Sheppard.

Third Ward - A, Mrs. Dwight Foy, B, Paul Breitigan and Joe O'Brien; C, Tess Tate; and D, Linda Hatmacher and Sue Maddux.

Fourth Ward - A, Mary Marchant; 4-B, Beverly Wilson; 4-C, Sharon Dean; 4-D, Bill Cales and Dick Maddux; and 4-E, Aileen Wilson.

The co-chairmen said the campaign will be assisted by members of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girl Groups and their adult leaders.

Although varying time schedules are anticipated for the four wards and their respective precincts, all groups hope to complete their campaign efforts by Saturday.

Opinion And Comment

Quick comment cards

Someone could make a mint supplying sets of appropriate flash cards to frustrated drivers. The frustration referred to is the sort that arises when there's no way to admonish, instruct, chastise, insult or otherwise appropriately respond to a piece of knuckleheaded driving.

Suppose the fellow just ahead makes an abrupt and heart-stopping lane change without benefit of directional lights. Think what a joy it would be to slip alongside and display a card reading: "Use Your Turn Signal, Dummy! Or perhaps, if one chose not be quite so blunt about it: Turn Signals are Dandy. Or maybe just a dignified: Turn Signal, Please.

The possibilities are endless. All the signs would have to be simply worded, of course; fast moving traffic is not the place for complicated messages, though some bumper stickers seek to rise above this fact of life. A driver might carry a selection, coded for quick reference - some cards bearing specific advice, others for more general use, e.g.: Stupid!

Moreover, the cards could be geared to suit varying temperaments. Only a driver with a strain of truculence in his makeup, for example, would venture to use the above-mentioned Stupid! card. Some might opt for the subtle, others for the approach direct. But there could be something for everyone to blow off steam with. As noted above, there's a mint in the idea.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Confidence at its lowest point

WASHINGTON — In the 40 years that I have been covering national politics I have never known anything quite like the cynicism about the political process prevailing today.

Indeed, cynicism is an inadequate word, since most Americans have long looked cynically on the politics of who gets what and why.

Hostility more nearly expresses the mood that seems to be nationwide. Extending from top to bottom of the political structure, it is quite impartial as regards parties and persons. The opprobrium falls with few exceptions on officeholders of whatever stripe, with judges coming in for exceptionally bitter denunciation.

The reasons are, of course, not hard to find. Watergate is one — the orgy of lying, deceit, intrigue held up for public view to a vast television audience. And, incidentally, the large crocodile tears shed by conservative Republicans over what they say is the public revulsion against the Ervin Committee miss the point.

The public is fed up not with the surfeit of evidence but out of frustration that nothing is done to punish the malefactors and take measures to insure that the same abuses cannot recur. This was the word brought back by discerning members of Congress following the August recess.

THE AGNEW AFFAIR, compounding President Nixon's own confrontation with the courts and the Congress, is another reason. Both the President and the Vice President seem to be saying that they are above the law and intend by one means or another to stay out of reach.

Here the media have much to answer for. A succession of leaks from sources still unidentifiable have undermined Agnew's position, and one result could be to make a fair trial by an impartial jury impossible. Agnew has strong grounds for complaint and this is one reason for the sympathy he has generated, with a defense fund that could be substantial.

The system of leaks, including even leaks of secret grand jury transcripts, has its pernicious aspect. As was shown during the Watergate hearings, White House power brokers from time to time planted leaks as rewards to reporters and commentators who might thereby respond with praise for the leakers.

Those friendly adjectives — able, hard-working, conscientious — dropped in judiciously were the reward.

IN ANOTHER WAY, too, the media bear a responsibility. That is in having built up the men in the seats of power subsequently brought low. When they were riding high the Haldemans, the Ehrlichmans, Mitchell, Kleindienst, even Maurice Stans were too often treated as though they had been anointed by some divine authority to rule the nation. Therefore, when they were brought down the disillusion was all the greater.

For all this, however, if it had not been for the media, and in particular for the Washington Post, the cover-up might have worked. Having perforce to rely on anonymous sources, the Post's investigative team of Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward blew the Watergate story out of the water despite repeated denials from the White House.

The way was opened not only to the hearings but to other cover-ups such as the ITT antitrust case. This last may prove, as it is prosecuted, to be the most damaging of all the scandals.

What then for the future? Whatever it may spell for the next election, the ugliness of the present mood is undeniable. A vote of no-confidence brought against officeholders and office seekers, from President down to county judge, must be profoundly disturbing for the future of a free government.

WHEN HE WAS asked at the second press conference after the four-month interval of silence what could be done to restore confidence in his leadership, which was another way of restoring confidence in government, the President relied with the element of self-pity that concerns observers who, like the White House regulars, follow at firsthand his state of mind.

He spoke of how night after night he had been subjected on television in prime time to innuendo, leaks and the "leers and sneers" of commentators. He went on to say that confidence would be restored by the President not allowing his own confidence to be destroyed. But he concluded with the following:

"What the President says will not restore it and what you ladies and gentlemen say will certainly not restore it."

That leaves somewhere in the stratosphere the question of how confidence is to be restored — and confidence not alone in the highest elective office but in the lowliest office down to county judge and sheriff.

Fashions stay same at Frederick's

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The more things change in the fashion world, the more they stay the same at Frederick's of Hollywood.

While everyone else was promoting the braless look, Frederick's kept right on selling 50 different versions of the pushin, push-up padded bra.

While the shoe industry clogged the market with clunky platforms, Frederick's kept stocking up on sling-back pumps with 5-inch stiletto heels.

And when the midi swept the nation, Frederick's never abandoned the mini.

In business for 27 years and making more money every year, Frederick's of Hollywood has ignored fickle fashion trends and stayed with a basic philosophy: women should dress for men and men like sexy women.

"You show a man an elegant miss and a sexy babe and the sexy babe will win out every time," said Fred Mellinger, the real Frederick, scion of an empire built on foam rubber, clingy knits, maribou-trimmed nightgowns, rhinestone-studded skycraper heels and naughty little items like crotchless panty hose.

"My concept of sexiness and female beauty is nice boobs with cleavage, slim waist, good hips and long shapely legs. I design clothes inspired by the beautiful women of the world who upset kingdoms and broke empires. I make clothes for the woman who walks into a room and is hated by the women but desired by the men," said Mellinger, a charming, roguish 57-year-old.

Mellinger has had the idea since the days he was a mere underwear buyer in New York 30 years ago. He kept getting in trouble with his bosses for suggesting things like panties with a zipper and a heart-shaped lock, so he set off on his own to prove that he wasn't the only one who liked the sexy babe.

Today, Frederick's of Hollywood has 69 stores in such supposedly unsexy places like Omaha and Kansas City.

Sales in 1972 were $12 million, a 25 per cent increase over 1971. More than 8 million catalogues featuring more than 500 items are shipped all over the world each year.

In November a collection of catalogues will be released in a 256-page book called "Frederick's of Hollywood, 1947-1973 — 26 years of mail-order seduction."

The catalogues, which are released eight times a year, are filled with drawings of longhaired, tiny-waisted women wearing seductive items like a see-through mesh jumpsuit captioned "No, no Nannette" and tight pants called "Hips Ahoy."

A pleated mini-dress is labeled "Flirty Purty." Another jump suit with cut-outs in strategic places is called "Jeepers Peepers." There are "Fringed Frenzy" nightgowns, "Mate-bait" gold lame evening dresses, and "Sin-sational" hiphuggers.

Every few pages in the catalogue is a picture of dapper Frederick saying things like "Be the MOST with my fabulous originals designed ... to bring out the REAL YOU!"

The picture hasn't been updated to show Mellinger's greying hair and fuller cheeks. "Why that would be like tampering with a trademark, like changing the picture of the Smith Brothers on their cough drop box!" Mellinger protests.

"Don't worry about it. I've heard my mother say that vase was thousands of years old."

Solar energy goes begging

Ralph Nader, the country's best known consumer advocate, has a flare for sharp turns of phrase that needle giant corporations. This is one of his many qualities which do not endear him to the movers and shakers of industry.

Nader demonstrated his talent the other day in the course of a speech at the Western Governors Conference session in Oregon. He was talking on one of his favorite subjects, an alleged minimal corporate concern for environmental values.

Having said that switching to nuclear power as a source of electrical energy might turn out to be "technological suicide," he suggested that instead we should develop relatively non-polluting solar and geothermal energy.

Then came the needle: "Solar energy has not been developed up to now because the oil industry doesn't own the sun."

That is a facile over-simplification. There may be some truth, though, in the thrust of Nader's remark. Otherwise how explain the industry's almost total lack of interest, thus far, in developing direct power from the sun?

"SHE BID ME A CHEERY GOOD MORNING. IS THAT A GOOD SIGN?"

Hal Boyle . . Time for double talk drill

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody learns at least two languages in his life, whether he realizes it or not.

And if he picks up a foreign language, too, that makes three.

The first language anyone usually learns is the language the people speak where he spends his childhood. Here the native language, of course is American, an offshoot largely of the English language.

The child learns American here because he needs a language in which to say what he is thinking. As he grows older and less truthful, however, he finds he needs a second language in which he can say something — but not at all what he is really thinking.

Slowly picking his way, often by himself, he evolves that necessary second language — double talk. This is usually a mirror image of his native language.

Thus if you were born in New York, you'd learn American double talk; in Paris, French double talk; in Minsk, Russian double talk.

So, while its accent may be national or even provincial, double talk is international, for the need for it arises wherever hypocrisy exists, and hypocrisy, common sense tells us, exists in every land containing human beings more than 4 years old.

The more skillful you become at this second language — double talk — the abler you should be at getting what you want from human society. So it will pay you learn it early and study it well all your life long.

For the benefit of the beginner, here are a few common examples of double talk. In each case, the double talk used by the speaker is in quotes, followed by what he really was thinking:

"I'd rather be right than president of this corporation." — Anyway, as senior vice president I'll probably live longer.

"I have just begun to fight." — If we don't start winning soon, we'd better start getting this ship to hell out of here.

"England expects every man to do his duty." Otherwise, it'll be a long swim home for him — or 20 years in the brig without grog.

"I don't mind admitting I had to come up the hard way." — But you'd think at least one member of my family would have left something behind besides debts.

"Oh, no, you're not boring me in the least." — But you might make the situation more interesting if you'd simply drop dead.

"Pardon me, I'm not crowding you, am I?" — What kind of nut are you, anyway? Did you think I'd just let you elbow me out of my place in this line?

"After all, money can't buy happiness." — But if you've got the right kind of dough, baby, you can buy me.

"So nice of you to come." — You can do us an even bigger favor by being the first to leave, too.

Darkness in the depths

There was a Chicago story about a couple who stood laughing and egging on a distraught woman poised to jump from a window. "Go ahead and jump," the man taunted. "We don't give a damn." The woman did jump, to her death.

A bizarre episode never to be repeated, shuddering readers thought. Yet now we learn that in Dania, Fla., the same sort of callous indifference to humane values has reared its head. Its many heads: a crowd taunted a despondent woman climbing a water tower, chanting "Higher..... higher," urging her to jump.

To cap the climax, it seems that a similar incident had taken place at the tower a few days earlier. Mob spirit, surely.

But then how account for that grisly couple in Chicago?

Our confidence in man is not shaken, but there is here a reminder of the darkness sometimes glimpsed in the depths of human nature.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Even a scoundrel can look you in eye

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl who never had a date.

Well, I met Ralph, this really nice kid at work. He's 24 and on the quiet side. He's not very sharp looking, but he has nice manners and I think he has good character because he's always talking about his involvement in church youth activities. Ralph asked me if he could meet my parents and ask their permission to date me, which I think is rather unusual for a guy these days, don't you?

I invited him over, and my mother said: "He has such nice manners, it's too bad he isn't taller."

My father said: "I never trust a guy who doesn't look you in the eye when he's talking to you, and this guy is one of them."

Abby, I like Ralph, and want to go out with him. Do you think my father could be right?

DAUGHTER VERSUS FATHER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Yes. And he could also be wrong. There are plenty of scoundrels who can look you squarely in the eye and lie like blazes if there's enough to be gained by it. Get to know Ralph better before making any judgments.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my sister told me her son had committed a crime and was in prison. (She gave me his address so I could write to him.) She said I am the only person she's told, and to please not mention it to the rest of the family. My sister never told me what her son did or how long he's in for, and I didn't want to question her, fearing it might upset her.

I wrote to my nephew, but didn't have the courage to ask him any questions. I did ask him what I could send him. He answered immediately, and told me not to send him anything because he couldn't accept anything. Can this be true?

Should I write to the warden and ask him what my nephew did and how long a sentence he's serving? Also, it doesn't seem reasonable that my nephew can't accept anything from the outside.

CONFIDENTIAL, PLEASE

DEAR CON: If your nephew advised you that he cannot accept anything, believe him. Don't ask the warden for the particulars of your nephew's crime. If your sister didn't choose to tell you, and your nephew doesn't volunteer the information, refrain from asking. It will come out (and so will he, hopefully) eventually.

DEAR ABBY: We're trying to teach our 3-year-old daughter table manners at dinner. I say that dinner is a place to be thankful, unwind, enjoy dinner, and have a pleasant conversation. My husband says it's the place to teach our daughter good manners. I agree, but how do you discipline her and let her enjoy her meal without everyone getting upset?

We're going 'round and 'round. Please help us.

Mom

DEAR MOM: If everyone gets "upset" when you try to teach your child table manners there must be something wrong with your method of teaching. Correct her gently with patience, instead of with anger and harsh criticism. And don't pick at her for every little infraction. Let a few things go. Youngsters who are constantly upset during mealtime often develop stomach disorders later.

Demo candidate screening slated

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Democratic Headquarters has announced a timetable for a candidate screening committee that is expected to make endorsements for the May 1974 primary.

The 27-member committee apparently will end its work by about Jan. 1, despite the objections of some Democrats, including John Glenn, who thinks the state organization should steer clear of primary election endorsements.

Oct. 18 is the date of the committee's organization meeting, but sessions for the purpose of interviewing candidates will not begin until after municipal elections in November.

State Democratic Chairman William A. Lavelle and David Meeker, the party's executive director, have asked all Democrats planning to run for state office in 1974 to notify state headquarters of their plans by registered or certified mail.

Candidates were advised in the latest edition of the Ohio Democrat that interviews will be conducted at party headquarters in Columbus, and that efforts will be made to arrange a date of mutual convenience.

After the interviews, Lavelle will communicate the "findings" of the committee to the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Lavelle said candidates may be permitted to make an appearance before the executive committee, but only after they had been interviewed by the candidates committee. Plans call for the candidates group to complete its work, report to the executive committee, and for the executive committee to act on recommendations "prior to the end of calendar year 1973 insofar as possible," the chairman said.

The executive committee voted 37-18 to establish the committee after an angry speech by Glenn in which he accused Gov. John J. Gilligan and state party leaders of loading the panel against him in favor of Clevelander Howard Matzenbam.

This was after Gilligan requested Glenn to run for lieutenant governor, the former astronaut said.

The makeup of the committee is as follows: One representative each from Federated Democratic Women of Ohio, Black Elected Democrats of Ohio, Young Democrats, Ohio Democratic Lawyers Association, Democrats of the Ohio House, Democrats of the Ohio Senate, and Ohio AFL—CIO, and the Ohio United Auto Workers Union.

In addition, the Democratic chairmen of Butler, Cuyahoga, Franklin, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lake, Lorain, Lucas, Mahoning, Montgomery, Stark, Summit, and Trumbull counties will serve.

Meeker will be a member, and there will be one member each named by Gilligan, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, and State Treasurer Gertrude W. Donahey.

Crusaders donate to furnace fund

A covered dish supper preceded the class meeting of the Christian Crusaders Class, South Side Church of Christ in Fellowship Hall. Wilbur Davis gave the invocation preceding the meal.

Howard Brooks, president, presided for the business session. The class voted to give $100.00 to the furnace fund. The furnace is in the process of being rebuilt, and donations are being received. All were urged to attend the Evangelistic meeting now in progress at the church.

Miss Ruth McKay brought devotions, used the theme "Sing Praise to God". She read Psalm 95. She said it was a natural way for Christians to express praise by singing. She read a poem and closed with prayer.

Mrs. John Sparks provided entertainment for the evening. Each guest was asked to bring their own baby picture, and a contest was conducted to see how many one could identify. Mrs. Davis was the winner of a word making game using 'Holloween Party."

Hostess for the November 3 meeting will be Mrs. Thomas Willis, Mrs. Stanley Baughn and Mrs. Alice Beedy. Mrs. Grant Whiteside will have devotions and William Underwood will provide entertainment.

Scramble starts for Saxbe seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, as praised Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, as "a capable and forthright officeholder, but stopped short of entering the race to succeed the retiring senator.

Brown acknowledged only that Saxbe's decision not to seek re-election in 1974 "leaves a void which the Ohio Republican Party must fill with the most qualified candidate..."

The Urbana congressman said he has been making "soundings throughout our state to determine whether I might be an appropriate dandidate to serve Ohio" for the last several months.

"I'll make a public announcement of my own plans in the near future," he said.

Saxbe's announcement Tuesday prompted several candidates to jump into the race, or at least indicate they might.

Lt. Gov. John Brown plunged immediately into the race for the 1974 GOP nomination.

U.S. Rep. William Keating of Cincinnati, mentioned as a third possible entrant into the primary, said from his Washington office he will not announce his decision until late October.

Former State Rep. Keith McNamara of Columbus called a news conference today and was expected to say he will seek the nomination for lieutenant governor, the office John Brown will be vacating.

Former State Sen. Robin Turner of Marion said that if Clarence Brown goes for Saxbe's seat, he may run for Congress in Brown's Seventh Congressional District.

Speculation arose quickly that Saxbe may head back to his farm at Mechanicsburg for a slight lull, then come out later in a bid for the GOP nomination for governor.

But as he has in the past, the senator indicated he would not get into a primary contest with former Gov. James Rhodes, who "already is running hard . . . it would be wasteful blood letting."

At the same time, Saxbe left the door a little ajar and hinted he might run if Rhodes should decide to drop out. The senator said he regarded that prospect as "unlikely, I don't expect that."

Rhodes reiterated he is in the race to stay, and will not heed the wishes of some Republicans who think he, at 64, should step aside after having served eight years in the governor's office.

The former governor praised Saxbe and said he has been "an asset to the party."

"It's too early to tell" whether Saxbe's withdrawal could hurt the state party's 1974 chances, he added.

State Republican Chairman Kent McGough, who said Monday he expected Saxbe's announcement, said "I'm disappointed, but not surprised."

The chairman said he believes either of the two Browns, Keating, or others who might get into the race can win with "a well organized campaign if they work hard."

Saxbe said he thinks Republicans can hold the seat "with a good candidate."

Besides the two congressmen and the lieutenant governor, others who have been mentioned include Ohio House Minority Leader Charles Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, and U.S. Rep. Charles Whalen of Dayton.

Lunchbox yields something else; workman charged

A strange meal was discovered in a lunchbox carried by Lawrence E. Hamilton, 37, of 429 Millikan Ave.

Walter Hocket, a security guard at Mac Tools, where Hamilton works, asked Hamilton to display the box's contents, Tuesday at 4:30 p.m., and found three screwdrivers and some feminine hygiene items.

Hamilton was served a private warrant for petty larceny.

A radio and a .22 rifle missing from the residence of Ron Larson, 418 Fifth St., may promote the loss of two friends.

Larson discovered the theft Tuesday, at 7:50 p.m. and talked to a neighbor who told him that two men in a red car were asking about him and said they'd be back later.

Two friends of Larson's from Mansfield had left a stereo set, a guitar and the now-missing radio last week.

He is hopefully awaiting their return with his rifle.

Court hears Ray bid for freedom

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday took under advisement the latest bid for freedom by James Earl Ray, the convicted killer of Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray's attorney said his client was "brow-beaten and bribed . . . and deprived of effective counsel all the way down the line."

The three-judge panel heard almost an hour of arguments and questioned both sides in the appeal.

Ray's lawyer, Bernard Fensterwald Jr., contends Ray entered a guilty plea under faulty legal counsel.

"He felt he had no choice," said Fensterwald, pressing for an evidentiary hearing. A U.S. District Court in Nashville recently turned down the hearings request.

Ray, who is serving a 99-year sentence for the April 4, 1968, murder of the civil rights leader, has spent the past 14 months in "a concrete tomb," Fensterwald said.

"That doesn't have anything to do with the issue," said Judge Anthony Celebrezze.

Fensterwald argued that Ray must be permitted better conditions in order to help explain the "omissions" and "irregularities" that occurred at his trial.

"His mental and physical health will not be proper for him to defend himself," said Fensterwald.

Attorney W. Henry Haile, representing the State of Tennessee, said the district court refusal for a hearing should stand due to Ray's "voluntary admission of guilt." Haile called the plea "conclusive."

The judges questioned Fensterwald at length over Ray's guilty plea.

The attorney maintained Ray received "outrageous" counsel at his trial and said his attorney "badgered him into a guilty plea."

The judges asked if the guilty plea was coerced from Ray, why he didn't "bring it up with the judge?"

Fensterwald replied: "It's remarkable Ray got up and said anything after being in that steel tomb for eight months."

Fensterwald argued that Ray's second lawyer, Percy Foreman, had a "conflict of interest"—a contract to Ray's rights of written articles. The attorney said the guilty plea should be void as a result.

Fensterwald also contends evidence that would tend to help Ray—a ballistics study and an eyewitness—was wrongfully withheld by the prosecution.

Price supports still available

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is letting farmers know through local offices that government price support loans are available on 1973 crops and can provide a measure of financial comfort to growers.

But statistics show that wheat farmers, for example, are being attracted much more by recently high cash market prices. In Kansas, the Sept. 15 average price of wheat paid farmers was $4.52 per bushel, compared with the government's national price support loan rate of $1.25 per bushel.

As of Sept. 1, according to USDA, only 28.5 million bushels of new-crop wheat nationally was under price support loan, about half of what farmers had under loan a year earlier from 1972 production.

The higher cash market prices, for other commodities as well as wheat, have caused many farmers to sell outright rather than go through the procedures to get support loans.

Officials in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service have sent to state and county offices a series of sample news released aimed at reminding producers how the loan programs operate.

"Producers may find advantages in the loan program for interim crop income if they plan to sell at a later date, thus providing themselves with greater independence in their crop marketing," one of the proposed news releases said.

There was a cautionary note, however, in the statement that said ASCS "is not in a position to tell farmers when or how to market" their crops.

"Even though market prices are above loan, it's good business for producers to be aware of the marketing options available to them," the agency said.

A spokesman said the suggestions on price support loans were sent to field offices of the ASCS mainly in anticipation of the fall harvest of corn, soybeans, cotton and other crops that qualify for government supports.

Set phone calls for prisoners

CHARLESTON, W.Va. — A pilot program is being started under which state prison inmates "on good behavior" will be able to make unmonitored, toll-free telephone calls to their families, Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. said today.

Moore termed the program at Moundsville "a five-minute parole system" and called it "a major step forward in terms of penal reform."

He said at a news conference he hoped to have the system in operation within 10 days.

Ditch project wins approval

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners Tuesday afternoon approved a project for improvements of the Persinger Ditch.

Fayette County Engineer Charles P. Wagner said preliminary cost estimates for the improvement are $7,500, or approximately $15 per acre.

The Persinger Ditch, which involves 501 acres of land, is located one mile south of Rattlesnake Creek on CCC Highway-W and affects five aln-downers.

The request for improvements was petitioned to the commissioners by Dr. J.H. Persinger. The improvements on the existing ditch include widening and deepening the channel to provide better drainage.

3 more write-ins declare candidacy

Three more persons have filed petitions with the Fayette County Board of Educations declaring themselves as write-in candidates for the Nov. 6 election.

George Thomas Anders, Sollars Rd., has declared himself as a write-in candidate for the Fayette County Board of Education. Ray C. Deere, of Bloomingburg, has filed as a write-in for Bloomingburg Council, and G.H. Biddle for a seat on the Board of Public Affairs at Bloomingburg.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC-TV tonight rolls out "Doc Elliot," a once-a-month series starring James Franciscus as a young physician who has fled the New York rat race for the rural life in Colorado.

You should watch tonight's show, if only for the scenery. It's beautiful, relaxing and may spark demands that all large cities be torn down and forests grown in their place. Let us hope this happens.

The series is set in a small town near the Rockies, although its producers say it was filmed in the community of Mount Pinos in California's rugged Los Padres National Forest near Santa Barbara.

No matter. The view is almost as good and more than makes up for the hack plot of tonight's "Doc Elliot," in which the good doctor helps a young woman blinded by cataracts since the age of six.

The woman is portrayed by Meredith Baxter. Last season, she was married to a handsome New York cabdriver-playright in "Bridget Loves Bernie."

This time, she's married to an ugly, bewhiskered, reclusive and dirt-poor farmer who tends to shoot at anyone who intrudes on his life.

The serious intruding starts after he fires two barrels of birdshot into the aft section of a trespassing hunter. The hunter's companions put a .22-caliber slug through the farmer's leg.

Doc Elliot, who makes his rural house calls in a radio-equipped camper truck, goes to treat him, meets his sightless wife and in due course suspects that her eye cataracts aren't permanent.

He lures a friend, a big-city eye specialist, to the area on the pretext of fishing matters. It soon is decided that an operation may save her sight.

The farmer grudgingly agrees to it. But when she leaves for the operation, he gets drunk, tears up the town saloon and confesses he fears losing her if she ever sees how really homely he is.

"Ah'm a warthawg, mister," he blearily tells Doc Elliot.

And Ah think this is plumb awful dialogue and there's a lot of it in the show, even though the only country people who really talk this way are the poor script farmers who work the Hollywood Hills.

Miss Baxter, a good actress, seems to have the most trouble threading her way through the dialogue, but she performs as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Despite the script, the show has a nice feel to it, partly because of Noah Berry, who plays a justice of the peace and general store owner, and Neva Patterson, cast as the widow of a doctor whose practice has been taken over by Doc Elliot.

Airplane crash kills 8 persons

INKSTER, Mich. (AP) — Eight persons aboard a twin-engine plane died Tuesday evening when the craft crashed into a densely populated residential area, authorities said.

Officials said the airplane skidded about 550 feet down a street lined by homes and slammed into a utility pole but there were no reports of injuries to anyone on the ground.

Inkster police said two men, two women, three young girls and a boy were killed in the crash.

The Beechcraft airplane crashed about 7:30 p.m. while attempting to land at nearby Detroit Metropolitan Airport in foggy weather, said the Federal Aviation Administration.

The agency said the registration of the craft not been confirmed and that the bodies of the eight aboard had not been identified.

Believe Ohioan's body found

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Hamilton authorities were expected to arrive today in Oklahoma City, Okla., where the body of a woman, believed to be from here, was found Sunday.

Authorities said clothing on the body matched that reportedly worn by Mary Ann Mink, 19, when she disappeared from a magazine subscription sales crew Aug. 18.

The crew notified police when Miss Mink failed to report back to the crew after an evening of door-to-door sales. Cause of the death was not immediately known.

Ohio farm amendment gains support

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Issue One fails to pass in the November election, it will drive up taxes on farmlands to such an extent it will no longer be possible to farm them, Seth Taft said Tuesday.

Taft, a Cuyahoga County commissioner and chairman of Citizens to Save Open Space, said a 50 per cent jump in farmland value and taxes are both in prospect if the issue fails.

Issue One would allow farmland to be taxed on the basis of its use rather than market value, which the Ohio Supreme Court said they must be based.

Taft said the Supreme Court decision couldn't have come at a worse time. He said land speculators are driving up the price—the market value—of Ohio farm land.

Taft, at a news conference and later at a rally of farm women, said most farmers are confronted with one huge tax increase after another if the issue fails.

"Not only will their land be taxed at its speculative value," he said, "but the valuations are to be adjusted annually to reflect market changes, one farmer's selling price setting another farmer's tax rate."

Taft said the only opponent of Issue One was "ignorance and apathy."

A poll showed, he said, that only one city person out of nine knew that Issue One was about.

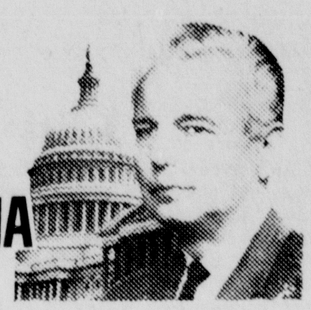
WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio



WASHINGTON — Even with all the assurances of a presidential veto, the House recently passed legislation providing $800 million in operating subsidies for urban mass transit systems.

I am strongly opposed to the legislation and believe that it should be vetoed. Neither will it bail out the systems in distress nor will it help to improve mass transit in the country. But it will perpetuate obsolete systems, reduce needed local incentives and self-sufficiency as well as open the federal coffers to an endless stream of expenses for which the corresponding benefit to the taxpayers is highly suspect.

It is a classic example of how millions of taxpayers dollars can be wasted in unwise legislation based on the preposterous theory that throwing money at a problem will somehow make it go away.

IF ENACTED, this legislation would mean that an estimated 1,000 local transit systems would look to the federal government for help. But under the allocation formula —— which is based on population, and passenger and vehicular miles travelled — only a handful of cities, in fact, would receive over 40 per cent of the funds each year.

Besides this basic inequity, the greatest flaw of such a formula is that it has no relationship whatsoever to the efficiency of the operation of the systems involved. There are few safeguards protecting the already over strained federal budget and virtually no assurances that the funds made available will encourage more efficient and improved operation of the systems being aided.

In no time at all, the federal government would be in a billion dollar, budget-busting, no-strings-attached subsidy business.

MOREOVER, the problems plaguing mass transit systems are primarily local in origin. The decreasing ridership and increased costs which have plunged most of the nation's mass transit systems into the red are the consequences of poor planning at the local level. If a mass transit system is located in an area where the local government chooses to provide incentives to use other modes of transportation by its land use policies, the pricing and supply of parking facilities and its traffic regulations, that system has only a minimal chance to survive without subsidies.

To call in the Secretary of Transportation and to involve him in the strictly local administrative decisions on such transporation policies— as this legislation provides — is absolutely unnecessary and saddles him with a responsibility that belongs at the local level. It would be one sure-fire way to increase red tape and Federal bureaucracy, but it would be no way to run a mass transit system.

I FAIL to see where, if the federal government began footing the bill for loosing mass transit systems, the basic ills plaguing them would miraculously disappear. Without any incentives for improvement but with someone else paying the costs, why should local communities face up to their mobility problems if Uncle Sam can be taken for a mass transit ride?

I also question whether money should be provided to operate mass transit systems if consumer preferences have not already created enough demand to sustain these services profitably.

During the hearings on this legislation earlier this year, even those witnesses advocating mass transit subsidies had to admit that the voters of their respective states had recently defeated referenda which would have aided mass transit systems.

Why, then, should federal taxpayers be asked to pay for that which the local taxpayers rejected? Why should the taxpayers of the Sixth District pay for the transportation of the people of New York or Boston?

County to get subsidy money

Fayette County will receive a total of $1,969.86 in criminal costs subsidies for September, accordig to State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

The payment to Fayette County is part of a $128,938.34 figure which will be distributed to 59 county clerks of court. The state pays for the successful prosecution and imprisonment of indigent persons convicted of felony crimes under the criminal cost subsidy program. The money is appropriated by the legislature to the auditor's office for this purpose.

Other area counties and their distributions were Clinton, $50.40; Greene, $1,077.70; Highland, $164.25; Madison, $92.05; and Pickaway, $980.12.

Roof bolts needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fearing federal agencies are still not aware of the serious problems being caused by a critical shortage of roof bolts for coal mines, Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va. Tuesday interruped Senate debate on a strip mining law to try and gain a solution.

Trenton man killed

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Wade Cates, 36, of Trenton, was killed Tuesday when the car he was riding struck a tree stump and a utility pole on Wayne-Trace Road south of the Butler-Preble county line, police said.

GOP party chief's job hampered by scandals

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bush thought his main job as Republican national chairman would be to convert President Nixon's 1972 landslide victory into a "New Republican Majority." Then came Watergate.

It led the 48-year-old Texan to become a party spokesman seeking to separate the Republicans from the scandal enveloping their own administration.

"There has been a need to put the party role into perspective," the former ambassador to the United Nations explained in an interview. "There has been a need to get that message across, the fact that the national committee is not responsible, that the party is not involved."

Though Bush renewed the now-familiar Republican litany that Watergate won't hurt the GOP at the polls, he conceded he has become more cautious about party prospects in the 1974 congressional elections.

He said the loss next month of Republican-held governorships in New Jersey and Virginia, which some party leaders see as a growing possibility, "wouldn't look good at all" but added that a string of GOP successes in recent local elections is proof "this isn't going to wipe out the Republican party."

Discussing his eight months on the job at GOP headquarters on Capitol Hill, Bush also said:

—"There's been a recovery" in the flow of contributions, and the committee will be able to meet its $5.5-million budget, about three times as much as the Democrats, without further staff cuts or borrowing.

—The controversy surrounding Vice President Spiro T. Agnew cannot help the GOP but, as for the effect on elections, "I don't think one could possibly measure that at this point." Bush said Agnew's 1976 presidential prospects certainly have not been enhanced, but he added that vindication could change that.

—The launching of 1976 presidential soundings by Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Ronald Reagan, Sen. Charles H. Percy and John Connally is encouraging. "We seem to have a wealth of qualified talent," he said. "I can't help but look at the Democrats and think, in this particular area, we're in pretty good shape compared to them."

—In line with an effort to make the national committee "a little more election-oriented," he stepped up party programs to provide assistance to candidates and potential candidates.

These include weekly campaign management schools, and at least three "New Majority Workshops" to stress ways of seeking support from those whose first GOP vote was cast in 1972 for President Nixon.

"These workshops will hopefully demonstrate to party leadership and candidates how to attract so-called New Majority voters, how to attract them to Republicans when you don't have a presidential race on," Bush said.

He said special effort will be made to increase GOP strength among minorities and among ethnic, groups.

Bush forecast close races in two gubernatorial elections next month.

In Virginia, Democrat-turned-Republican Mills E. Godwin is locked in a tight race with Lt. Gov. Henry Howell, running as an independent. In New Jersey, Rep. Charles Sandman, who unseated GOP Gov. William Cahill in the primary, is running against Democrat Brendan Byrne.

"I think they're both very important," Bush said. "But I don't see either of them as a test of Watergate."

He said if the GOP lost the governorships, both captured from the Democrats four years ago, "it wouldn't look good at all. We wouldn't like that.

"Of course," he said, "if we won the two, I would hope we would get tremendous acclaim, having pulled off the impossible in a year when others would have thought it would have been impossible to win anything."

In discussing the 1974 elections, Bush avoided any prediction that the GOP could win control of the House or Senate — which would take a net gain of 26 in the House and 7 in the Senate. He talked in terms of avoiding further losses.

"Maybe we're just euphoric," he said, "but we think we have a chance to turn around what is the normal off-year syndrome, namely that the party in power loses seats in the off year."

Bush noted that President Nixon has said he will campaign for Republican candidates in 1974, and the chairman said those who hope to succeed the chief executive should follow the example of Nixon's allout 1966 stumping for GOP congressional candidates.

GREENFIELD,—The board of Directors of the Peoples National Bank, of Greenfield, has elected William L. Rowe president and a director of the bank to succeed Wendell Shaffer who was named chairman of the board.

Commenting upon the board of directors meeting, Shaffer said, "We directors welcome Mr. Rowe to the board with the same confidence which led up to elect him president. Mr. Rowe's ability and dedication will be well-supported by Mr. Moseley who has had a fine career with the First National Bank of Chillicothe."

Both The Peoples National Bank and The First National Bank of Chillicothe are affiliated with BancOhio Corporation, 36-member bank holding company headquartered in Columbus.

Forest Shade Grange seats new officers

NEW MARTINSBURG—Max Carson was installed as master and Miss Louise Ritter as lecturer at the Forest Shade Grange meeting here Tuesday night. The obligations of office were administered by County Deputy Richard Carson. Max Carson succeeds Winfred Morgan as the master, and Miss Ritter succeeds Mrs. Florence Bethards.

A letter from James Cunningham, outlining the need for a Miami Trace District junior high school, was read by the county deputy, but no formal action was taken. A $2,035,000 bond issue to build the school will be submitted to the district voters Nov. 6. The bond issue would run for 22 years and be retired with a 2.15-mill average tax levy. Approximately $750,000 of the total bond issue is expected to go for maintenance and improvement of the existing elementary schools.

Mrs. Max Carson and Miss Cathy VanDyke were named as assistant matrons for the Forest Shade Junior Grange. Mrs. William Garringer is the matron.

The master announced that the Pomana Grange meeting will be held Thursday night in the Forest Shade Grange Hall here.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. William Garringer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanDyke, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Sollars and Miss Minnie Smith.

McNamara goes after Brown's job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Keith McNamara, a Columbus attorney and former six-term member of the Ohio House, today announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor.

McNamara, a Republican, wants the post being vacated by incumbent John W. Brown, who said Tuesday he will run for the GOP nomination for the U.S. Senate.

McNamara, at a news conference, said he thought the role of the lieutenant governor should be expanded.

"Historically, the post position has not been considered a major one and has not been challenging," he said.

The salary for the post jumps to $30,000 annually beginning next year and McNamara said he believes the duties should be increased.

He said the lieutenant governor could serve as a liaison between state and local governments, as well as between the state administration and the legislature.

Asked if he feels it is realistic for a Democratic governor to call upon a Republican lieutenant governor for liaison duties, McNamara, 44, said: "I see no reason why nonpartisan problems can't be worked on by both the governor and lieutenant governor regardless of their political affiliation."

Court decides company doctors can't be sued

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today ruled two doctors hired to staff a Ford Motor Co. clinic were fulltime employes and could not be sued for alleged malpractice in treating a worker.

David K. Proctor of Cleveland, said Drs. Edward F. Arscott and Constantine A. Papas aggravated a hand injury he suffered April 30, 1969 at Ford's Brookpark plant.

Proctor sued both Ford Motor Co. and the two doctors. The Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court dismissed both as defendants but the Court of Appeals allowed the doctors to be kept as defendants.

The Supreme Court said the doctors were employes as designated in the law that grants immunity from liability conferred on employers.

Price drop hits Fayette farmers

Fayette County farmers, especially those who raise livestock, have been hit hard in the pocketbook during the last couple of months.

Prices paid for cattle, hogs and sheep have been on a sharp decline since early August. At the same time the soybean market was on the skids from around $14 early in the summer to around $5.25 today.

In the last two months hog prices have dropped from $62.25 to $38-$39 at the Producers Livestock market here and the cattle market, which had the biggest slump, dropped from $58-$60 per cwt. to $44-$45.75 at the weekly sale Tuesday.

A total of 217 cattle went through the auction along with 495 hogs. Yearling steers and heifers were down at $44-$46.

Between 300 and 500 sheep and lambs are sold through the Saturday auctions Producers Stockyards every week; the lamb market last week was down to $34-$35.

THESE price adjustments, said Mike Wagner, Producers Livestock Association manager here, represent drops of 30 to 35 per cent in the two-month period.

He said that consumers who are concerned about this situation might relate it to themselves by imagining they had just paid $30,000 for a new home; if they had to sell it, they would find the price had dropped 30 per cent to $20,000.

To clarify the situation further, Wagner pointed out that 45 market-ready 1,000-pound steers would be worth $20,000 today and that, like the home buyer with few exceptions, most of that $20,000 represents borrowed money.

"Farming involves great risks," Wagner remended, "because of weather and price uncertainties, but farmers have to accept the ups and downs."

"CONSUMERS," he continued, "were very vocal about the high price of meat several months ago when farmers were receiving the highest prices paid for livestock. It's a fact that all food prices have gone up considerably and now account for a larger portion of the consumer budget. However, at the same time food is becoming more costly; those same consumers are paying dearly for the inflationary prices of all goods and services."

Wagner pointed out that "this brings up an important point that is often overlooked by the consumer. During an inflationary period when prices on all goods and services go up, they stay up. But, in contrast, when farm prices go up, they come down."

He commented that farmers are now selling their livestock for 30 per cent less than they did last summer.

Defending champs invade MT Friday

Panthers face Tigers in Homecoming game

By DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Before last Friday night's contest with the Hillsboro Indians the Miami Trace football coaching staff had some doubts to whether their football team had the strength on the bench to capture a South Central Ohio League title. But after last week's performance by the subs for the injury-riddled Panthers, little doubt should remain that the Panthers won't be strong contenders for the coveted gold football.

Miami Trace was facing the opening of league competition with three starters out of the lineup with injuries. Tri-captain Doug Ford was out due to a slight concussion, Doug Baker was out with muscle spasms in his back and Tom Pfaff was out resting a back bruise.

BUT AFTER the game was over last Friday, thoughts of gold must have been going through head coach Fred Zechman's mind.

Jeff Sagar, who filled in for the injured Ford, gained 114-yards in 16 carries and scored one touchdown. Jeff Smithson did a fine job filling in for Pfaff and Dusty Ruth held up the halfback spot for Baker.

This week though, Ford will be back along with Baker. Pfaff was still doubtful as of Tuesday, but he still might see action in Friday night's clash with defending SCOL champion Circleville.

With the returning of Ford to the fullback slot, Sagar will be moved to the halfback position that he is accustomed to playing.

Even with the power of both Ford and Sagar in the line-up, the Panthers, will have their hands full against a quick defensive team from Circleville. The game is Miami Trace's annual Homecoming.

The Circleville defense is not big by any means but features deceptive ability. Led in the weight catagory by left tackle Scott Bowman at 205-pounds, the Tigers' defensive line decreases in size but increases in speed. Rounding out the front line for the Tigers should be, Keith Davis at right-tackle, Jim Cordal, weighing only 145-pounds, is stationed at middle guard and Dale Imler at one of the ends.

The rest of the defenders have position names like those from the college ranks. Rock Davis, who was injured in last week's loss to Wilmington, plays end, Reggie Radcliff plays left inside linebacker, Jim Payne is the right inside linebacker, Eddy Richter is the "Tiger man", Alan Underwood, is a five-yard halfback, Doug Palm plays middle safety and Perry Hoskins is at strong safety.

The offense isn't as complicated as the defense, but there might be some changes made after last weeks disastrous fumble, plagued showing by the Circleville ball-handlers.

AS OF last week, Hoskins was handling the quarterbacking chores with Richter at tailback, Pat McNaughton at fullback, either Joe Smith or Rick Sampsill at wingback and Palm being placed at split-end.

The Tiger offensive unit again has speed like the defense, but still lacks the size of the Miami Trace team. Against Wilmington, Circleville gained only 77 yards rushing, but collected 151 yards passing with some of the passing yardage coming on an option play to Sampsill in which Sampsill passed to Palm for a touchdown.

Coach Larry Cook, in his second year at Circleville, was very upset after last week's loss to Wilmington with only 11 seconds remaining in the game, said, "mistakes have killed us this year, but we can be a fine team if we just eliminate these mental lapses."

Circleville, which has a record of 1-1 in SCOL competition and 2-3 overall, must prevent mental mistakes to keep from slipping into the loser's column any further.

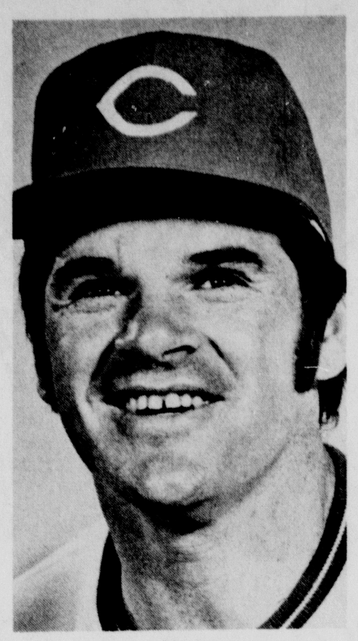
Mental mistakes against Miami Trace could prove to be the gold filling Zechman has been counting on in the early going of the SCOL race.

MT ticket talk

Some reserved seat tickets are available for Friday night's game between Miami Trace and Circleville, according to ticket manager Glenn Marchal.

Marchal said the tickets will be offered at the gate Friday night. He also said there will be pre-sale of general admission tickets for the Circleville, Wilmington and Washington C.H. games. Adult general admission tickets are priced at $1.50 and 50 cents for students.

All elementary schools in the county have student pre-sale tickets available in the principals' offices.



PETE ROSE

Showdown today!

Rose's home run squares playoffs

NEW YORK (AP) — They threw an apple, a tennis ball and an egg at Pete Rose, but the only flying object he cared about was a baseball.

Rose hit it over the fence for a home run in the 12th inning to give the Cincinnati Reds a 2-1 victory over the New York Mets and tie the National League playoffs at two games apiece.

"I wasn't thinking about a home run, I must confess, but I wanted to hit that ball all the way to the airport," said Rose, who apparently felt he struck a blow back at the Mets' fans for their animosity toward him.

Rose had been the object of scorn here, ever since his fight with New York shortstop Bud Harrelson, a scuffle that triggered a full-scale melee during Monday's bizarre game.

"Sure, I heard them booing at me every time I showed my face," said Rose. "They kept throwing things at me, too. But that only makes me play harder."

Cast as the villian, Rose heard the boos once more as he stepped to the plate in the top of the 12th inning to face New York reliever Harry Parker.

Someone threw an apple at Rose, but he brushed it aside with his bat, looking darkly toward the stands. Then came the tennis ball and the egg.

It was reminiscent of Monday's affair, when Rose was showered by pop bottles, beer cans, batteries and a whiskey bottle in left field. The garbage shower took place after the Rose-Harrelson fight and the resulting battle royal.

The fans remembered Monday's infamous "Rose-bud Incident" and continually hissed the Cincinnati left fielder before he pumped Parker's 2-2 fastball out of sight over the right field fence.

Then the 50,786 fans were dramatically silent, for the most part, as Rose circled the bases with his right hand held high in a clenched-fist gesture of victory.

"I wasn't trying to rub it into the fans, even though I heard them booing me," said Rose. "I was just happy. I would have given a week's pay to have gone four-for-four today and to have scored four runs.'

He didn't have a bad day, as it was. Rose singled twice and walked before smashing his second homer of this five-game series.

A's capture 2-1 lead in playoff

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris, the 155-pounder dubbed "Baby Ruth" after home runs in two straight games, predicts the A's will win their way into the World Series again today.

"I don't care who's pitching, we'll win," declared the explosive little infielder whose 11th-inning leadoff home run beat Baltimore 2-1 Tuesday and gave Oakland a 2-1 edge in the American League playoffs.

The defending world champions will represent the American League a second straight year if they beat the Orioles' ace right-hander, Jim Palmer, today. He shut them out 6-0 in the opener of the best-of-five playoff series.

Oakland left-hander Vida Blue didn't last through the first inning in that one but he'll be back facing the Orioles again.

"We have a well-rested Blue who has shown he can pitch well against anybody," said Oakland Manager Dick Williams. "Certainly we have a chance against Palmer."

Campaneris hit only four home runs during the regular season but he led off the second game of the championship series with a homer and ended the third game with one. That provided the pitching victory to southpaw Ken Holtzman, who threw a three-hitter.

Campaneris, who was suspended the final three games of last year's playoffs when he threw his bat at a rival pitcher, said he hit a slider, low and inside, for his game-winning homer.

"I wanted to throw it further inside," commented a disappointed Mike Cuellar who had allowed only three hits before Campy's homer.

The A's victory put all the pressure on Baltimore and Palmer.

"We have our backs to the wall," admitted the hurler who won 22 games and lost nine on the season. "If I don't pitch well and we lose, we're eliminated. I'll try to pitch the same way I did in Baltimore."

Earl Williams got Baltimore off to a 1-0 lead in the second inning when he slammed a Holtzman fast ball over the left field fence, the Orioles' first homer of the series.

Holtzman then retired 14 batters in order before walking Tommy Davis in the seventh.

Oakland didn't score until the eighth, when Manager Williams' strategy paid off.

He sent Jesus Alou up to hit for catcher Ray Fosse and Alou golfed a blooper into left field for a single. Fleet Allan Lewis went in to run for Alou.

Williams had selected Angel Mangual originally as the pinch hitter for second baseman Dick Green but, with a bunt the obvious play, he switched and used Mike Andrews.

The bunt went to Cuellar, who was off balance when he fielded it. So he threw to first— the sacrifice working. Campaneris struck out but Joe Rudi banged a broken-bat single off his fists to score Lewis from second.

Grid prophet picks Sooners over Texas

NEW YORK (AP) — Now, football fans, you're going to learn how a fearless forecaster operates.

The text for the lesson is Saturday's upcoming battle between Oklahoma and Texas in Dallas. This is one of the sport's classic confrontations year in and year out.

"We get ready, they get ready and we have a great game," says Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. "That's what college football is all about. It's the greatest excitement and atmosphere I've ever been associated with."

First, you listen to Switzer point out that "we've won the last two years and that's the first time in a long time that's happened to them." Fifteen years, to be exact, since Oklahoma roped Texas six times in a row from 1952-57.

Next, you listen to Switzer run down the Texas team:

"They're the same type of football team they've always been. They've been well coached and have a strong defensive team. You never knock them down.

"They have a great back in Roosevelt Leaks and a quarterback (Marty Akins) they feel will be a good one. They have good receivers, and prior to the season they felt their offensive line would be improved.

"They have an excellent kicking game. Their punter hangs the ball so high people get nervous waiting for it to come down."

Finally, Switzer advises folks wanting to preview the two teams to "get last year's papers and columns and just put that down."

Okay, Barry. Oklahoma won last year 27-0. Accordingly, the pick for this year...Oklahoma 27-0.

Last week's count was 44 right, 19 wrong and two ties for .698. For the season, it's 196-718—.734.

Nebraska at Missouri: These Big Eight rivals have been playing since 1892 and Nebraska's 62-0 romp last year was the series' biggest rout. Missouri wants revenge...but gets a loss instead. Nebraska 24-13.

Ohio State at Wisconsin: Two weeks ago, Wisconsin was called the best 0-3 team in the country. Now, they're the best 1-3 team. And with Ohio State and Michigan back-to-back the Badgers may soon be the best 1-5 team. The polls say Ohio State's the best team of all. Ohio State 28-14.

Lakers rip Chicago Bulls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How much will the Los Angeles Lakers miss Wilt Chamberlain?

Hardly at all, if their season-opening game can be used as a barometer.

The Lakers, playing without the 7-foot-1⅛ giant who jumped the National Basketball Association club recently and signed as player-coach with the San Diego Conquistadors of the American Basketball Association, began their NBA Association campaign with a 117-97 victory over the Chicago Bulls Tuesday night.

In other NBA openers, defending champion New York squeaked past Detroit 101-100, Atlanta trounced Capital 128-114, Buffalo edged Houston 107-105 in overtime, and Golden State's game at Cleveland was postponed because of a wet floor.

Delaware cushions AP grid poll lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The University of Delaware, surging toward an unprecedented third consecutive national college division football championship, has solidifed its hold on first place in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Blue Hens, a 56-18 victor over Baldwin-Wallace last weekend, received 39 first-place votes and a total of 828 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Delware, which has an 18-game winning streak dating back to 1971, ran its season record to 5-0-0.

Tennessee State, 4-0-0, moved from seventh place to second with a 19-13 victory over Grambling, collecting one firstplace ballot and 645 points. Idle Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, 3-0-0, was third with 442 points while Hawaii, a 16-9 winner over Los Angeles State, was fourth with 424 points.

Boise State, 4-0-0, moved from eighth to fifth place after defeating Weber State 34-7 while Grambling, 4-1-0, dropped from second to sixth and garnered 367 points.

Louisiana Tech, 4-1-0, was seventh after downing Northern Arizona 37-7, but South Dakota, 4-1-0, plummeted from third to eighth after being upset 31-19 by Montana.

Eastern Michigan, 4-1-0, was fourth last week but slid to ninth after losing 24-21 to Western Illinois and North Dakota State, 5-1-0, was 10th following a 21-0 romp over Northern Iowa. Western Kentucky, 4-0-0, moved from 13th to 11th on the strength of a 45-7 triumph over Western Carolina. Carson-Newman, 4-0-0, beat Catawba 17-7 but slipped from 10th to 12th.

Wittenberg, 4-0-0, moved into the rankings at 13th place by crushing Ohio Wesleyan 41-7. North Dakota, 3-2-0, moved up a notch from last place to 14th with a 43-7 shellacking of Morningside and Jacksonville State, 3-1-0, skidded from 11th to 15th place after dropping a 21-20 decision to Livingston.

Battle-scarred Bengals brace for unbeaten Steelers Sunday

CINCINNATI — The battle-scarred Cincinnati Bengals will host the awesome and undefeated Pittsburgh Steelers at 1 p.m., Sunday at Riverfront Stadium in a National Football League game.

The Bengals, who are now without the services of five key offensive players, will be trying to upset the Steelers who have four consecutive victories and stand high atop the American Football Conference' Central Division which they won in 1972. The Bengals are 2-2 and two full games behind the Steelers in the AFC Central.

CINCINNATI suffered the loss of a pair of wide receivers for an indefinite period last Sunday. Charlie Joiner, back in action for the first time since the final pre-season game, broke his left collarbone after catching a pass for 26 yards on the first play of the game against Cleveland. Myers suffered a pulled hamstring muscle.

Add these injuries to the loss of running back Doug Dressler, who recently underwent knee surgery; tackle Stan Walters, hospitalized with hepatitis, and quarterback Virg Carter, lost in the final pre-season game when he sustained a broken collarbone, and the Bengals' injury situation becomes crippling.

Even a team of healthy Bengals would be definite underdogs against Coach Chuck Noll' onrushing Steelers who have demolished all their 1973 opponents.

If comparative scores mean anything you can use the Cleveland final as a yardstick. The Bengals lost to the Browns 17-10 last Sunday while Pittsburgh holds an easy 33-6 victory over Cleveland.

"The Steelers are one of the very best football teams in the National Football League," says Paul Brown, Bengals' head coach and general manager. "They are picked by many to be in the Super Bowl and with their personnel and coaching it could well work out that way.

"They have all the ingredients necessary for great football teams," Brown emphasized. "A fine quarterback, outstanding runners, solid blocking and one of the best defensive units in the business. There's not much missing, if anything."

The Steelers are led by quarterback Terry Bradshaw, one of the top young passers in football who also is an outstanding runner. Bradshaw doesn't lack for receivers. His top ones are Frank Lewis, Barry Pearson, Ron Shanklin and John McMakin.

Pittsburgh has a grinding running attack headed by the 1972 rookie-of-the-year Franco Harris and veteran Frenchy Fuqua. Other top Steeler runners are Preston Pearson and Steve Davis.

The mammoth Pittsburgh defense is headed by a veteran front four of ends L.C. Greenwood and Dwight White and tackles Joe Greene, an all-pro, and Ernie Holmes.

SPEEDY Essex Johnson continues to be the Bengals' big gun offensively, leading the club in rushing and pass receptions.

The "Essex Express" has gained 394 yards on 59 carries for a glittering 6.7 average. Johhson also has caught 14 passes for 217 yeard and an average of 18.2. The former Grambling star has rushed for two touchdowns and has chalked up two more on pass receptions.

Rookie running back Boobie Clark is second in rushing and pass receptions. Clark, a 12th round draft choice from Bethune-Cookman, has picked up 243 yards on 65 rushing attempts for 3.7 average. He also has caught 13 passes for 105 yards, an average of 8.1.

Quarterback Ken Anderson has connected on 54 of 102 passes for 771 yards and a completion average of 52.9. He has thrown four touchdown passes and two interceptions.

The Bengals and Steelers have met six times since the series began in 1970 and Pittsburgh holds a 4-2 edge. The Bengals handed the Steelers one of their three defeats in 1972 when they beat them 15-10 on five Horst Muhlmann field goals at Riverfront Stadium.

The two teams will meet twice in the next three weeks, matching up again in Pittsburgh on October 28. In between the two games with the Steelers, the Bengals will play the Kansas City Chiefs at Riverfront on October 21.

MT's Players of Week

A sophomore, junior and senior have been selected as Miami Trace's Players of the Week for their performances in the Panthers' 28-0 victory over winless Hillsboro last Friday night.

Tied for the offensive honors were junior Jeff Sagar and senior Jeff Long. Coming out on top in the defensive catagory was sophomore Greg Cobb. All three players were selected by the Miami Trace coaching staff in The Record-Herald's fifth weekly poll.

SAGAR, a 165-pound fullback, hit the Hillsboro defense for a total of 114 yards. The powerful junior had a run of 48 yards to set up an important touchdown for the Panthers. Also, when Sagar wasn't carrying the ball, his fakes were good enough to cause the Hillsboro linemen to be out of position for the other Miami Trace runners to pick up yardage.

Long, a 200-pound senior offensive tackle, was also named offensive player of the week. For the second straight week Long has shown strength, quickness, and all around awareness of his blocking assignments. The quick-hitting tackle opened gaping holes in the Hillsboro line for the Panther backs.

On the defensive side for Miami Trace, Cobb, a 190-pound sophomore, received 33 defensive points for his excellent performance on the line. Cobb knocked down two passes, sacked the opposing quarterback three times and practically stole the ball from a Hillsboro runner when he recovered a fumble before the ball hit the ground, and set up a touchdown for the Panthers.

THE TEAM'S "big lick" awards went to quarterback Tom Riley, on offense, and to Jim Glass for a tremendous hit on a punt, for the defense.

Head coach Fred Zechman also reported that tri-captain John Woodrow followed at a close second in the defensive honors for Player of the Week. Woodrow, like Cobb, was a continuous menace to the Hillsboro quarterback.

The Panthers pushed their record to 3-2 in overall games and 1-0 in league competition by defeating Hillsboro last Friday, but the Panthers can't relax a moment with defending league champions Circleville invading Miami Trace Field at 8 p.m. Friday.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, OCT. 11

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Early hours hold some risk. Be careful in travel, handling equipment, managing finances. Better influences in the p.m. favor career plans, educational interests.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Follow-up on a unique idea could be highly successful — if you are aware that present conditions are without precedent. It will be up to you to accomodate.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Business matters should go well but don't regard all a.m. decisions as final. Plans may have to be modified somewhat later in the day.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Some challenges indicated in your work area. To handle, study the psychological factors, your own motivations, those of others.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

The methods and tactics you usually employ may be ineffective now, but you can devise some clever expedients — perhaps even more result-getting in the long run.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Watch your competition carefully. Indications are that some tricky maneuvers may be employed. Alert, however, you can sport them.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Caution urged in business negotiations. You may think you have the upper hand and try a daring power play. Don't! It won't work.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Feel your way carefully now. There may be deterrents to your progress of which you are unaware. Be especially watchful where details are concerned.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Certain situations may be more complex than you realize. Avoid any involvement that could damage your prestige.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Morning hours favor the exchange of ideas, programming for future activities, business conferences generally. Accent is on the social after 3 p.m.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Keep both feet on the ground now. There's a tendency to confuse the imaginatively creative with the offbeat and impractical.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Be prepared for surprises — especially in social circles. Certain odd persons or bizarre doings may raise your eyebrows. But you WILL be amused.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect, creative ability, an outstanding intuition, fairmindedness and unusual sympathy for the underprivileged. You are gregarious, too, but tend to be unyielding at times, thus alienating potential firends and aides. You are reserved and dignified, but always ready to lend a helping hand.

Opening lead - king of diamonds.

There is a right way of playing a hand, and a wrong way. Sometimes the right way is simple, yet easy to overlook.

Consider this deal where West led a diamond. Declarer ruffed and played a heart to the king. Then he led a heart back, finessing the jack and losing to the queen. He lost a spade finesse later on and went down one.

South was indeed unlucky to lose two finesses, but even so the fact remains that he should have made the slam. He missed his cue at trick three when he played the low trump from dummy and Esst procued the ten.

South should have been willing to assume that East had played the ten from an original holding of either Q-10-x, 10-x or possibly 10-x-x. It was inconceivable that East would play the ten from a holding of Q-10-x-x.

It could therefore be reasoned that the trumps were bound to be divided 3-2 and that the location of the queen was a matter of only academic interest.

Declarer should have gone up with the ace at trick three with the 100 per cent assurance that this play would bring home the contract.

In the actual hand, the queen would not have fallen on the ace but South would eventually have discarded the Q-J-9-5 of spades from dummy on his clubs.

His only loser would have been a trump trick and he would have made the slam without running the risk of a spade finesse.

What Causes Swollen Feet

My feet become swollen at the end of the day. When I rest and wake up in the morning, the swelling is gone. I worry that I may have kidney trouble. Is there a way to study the cause of such swelling?

Miss D. H., W. Va.

Dear Miss D. H.:

Swelling of the feet that occurs after long period of standing and disappears with rest, must be studied to determine its exact cause.

The chances are great that chronic kidney disease, only one of the causes for swelling of the feet, is not necessarily the reason in your case.

Swelling, or edema, simply means that there is some interference with the proper circulation of blood. Some people develop swelling by standing on their feet for long periods of time. When they are at rest, with the feet elevated, the swelling disappears.

Now it is true that there are defects of the kidney, the heart, the lungs, and the circulatory system that can be responsible for swelling.

Many tests are available by which the circulation can be studied. Kidney function tests, with special dyes, can readily establish the proper functioning of the kidneys. Even though the chances are great that you do not have any reason for concern you will benefit from the knowledge that here is no reason for concern about the sweeling you describe.

Home-based governor Rotary Club speaker

A series of humorous stories recounting his experiences during visits with other clubs throughout Ohio were shared by District Governor Robert Haigler with members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club at the noon luncheon Tuesday in the Country Club.

Haigler's talk was largely centered around the many experiences he has had since being named district governor, but he finished with a serious note about inflation.

Each year, the district governor pays a visit to the Rotary clubs in the area. The visit here was the last official stop on Haigler's tour of the Rotary clubs in District 667. There are 46 clubs in District 667, which encompasses most of the southwestern portion of the state.

Haigler, a member of the Washington C.H. club, took office as district governor in July.

THE THEME of Haigler's tenure as district governor is "Enjoy Rotary More In '74", and he made Washington C.H. Rotarians believers with the tenor of his talk.

An extensive traveler, Haigler talked about inflation on a serious note and used the South American country of Uruguay as an example. He said the value of money in that country has dropped 60 per cent in one year. Haigler said that one-third of the country's population is employed by the government, another one-third is drawing government pensions, and the final third of the population can't produce enough to keep things on an even keel.

He dramatized the inflation portion of his talk with an eight-penny nail he pulled from his pocket and explained that 50 years the nails were only 2 cents a pound, but now cost 25 cents a pound.

DURING the business meeting, conducted by Phil Grover, Steve Yambor, assistant superintendent of Fayette County schools, was accepted as a new member. Yambor was sponsored for membership by Ron Ratliff. Dr. William H. Limes introduced Haigler.

Student guests were David Foster, of MTHS, and Herb Bonner, of WSHS. Mark Thellmann, of The Record-Herald, was a guest of Paul Crosby.

Visiting Rotarians were Dr. Walter Felson, of Greenfield, Merrill Kaufman, of Delaware, Darrell French, of Wilmington, Jerry Ardrey, of London, and Ottie Hockman, of Mount Sterling.

Haigler met with officers of the Washington C.H. club and committee chairman Tuesday morning to review reports submitted by committee chairman and to exchange ideas on how other clubs in the district are handling certain problems.
